

U.S. Delegation To U.N.O. Split Over Jap Isles

LONDON (AP)—Official sources disclosed today that United States civilian and military officials at the United Nations' General Assembly are split over whether American-conquered Japanese islands should be placed under the sovereignty of the United Nations' Organization.

While the U.S. delegation sought a solution of this question, it was disclosed that the newly-elected Security Council, confronted with the twin tasks of controlling atomic energy and preventing another, had been summoned to hold its first meeting Thursday.

Indications were that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes of the United States, and Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's Vice-Commissar of Foreign Affairs, would speak at the opening session, which will be devoted primarily to organization.

The U.S. delegates themselves were said to favor a trusteeship plan for the Pacific islands, while their special military adviser, Gen. George C. Kenney, argued that the United States should retain islands of military value.

UP TO TRUMAN
Delegates said that if Gen. Kenney held out, the disagreement could be considered as tantamount to an issue between the State and War departments and would have to be referred to President Truman for settlement.

TO SPEAK THURSDAY—Andrei Vishinsky, Russian Vice-Commissar of Foreign Affairs, who is expected to address the Security Council.

The State Department argues that the United States agreed to preliminary trusteeship plans during the San Francisco conference and should not set a precedent for others by withholding the islands.

Meanwhile, U.S. State Secretary Byrnes' opening speech in the debate Monday was warmly hailed in the London press. Mr. Byrnes asked early action to establish a U.N.O. atomic energy control commission and said the United States was "conscious of its responsibility" in world affairs.

ISOLATIONISM DEAD

"The war really killed isolationism as a national policy," the Daily Mail said. "... Now its obsequies have been spoken ... in terms which are plain, precise and unmistakable."

In the general policy debate, Iran, China, Denmark and the Netherlands were scheduled to have the floor today; Salvador, Ecuador, Argentina, Norway and Poland tomorrow; Peru, Bolivia, Yugoslavia and Britain Thursday; and Canada, Greece and France Friday.

As the Assembly's steering committee charted the assembly's course, the five major powers remained unable to agree on a nominee for secretary-general.

Efficiency Survey Of Civic Service

A resolution asking that a special city council committee of three be set up to investigate and report on the advisability of an efficiency survey being made of the Victoria civic service will be moved by Ald. H. M. Diggon at Monday's city council meeting, he indicated today.

This committee, if set up, will be asked to report with recommendations on the survey which would cover not only personnel in the civic service, Ald. Diggon explained, but the present overlapping in departments, and certain salary inequalities which are known to exist.

Matters dealing with interlocking of departments, their physical disposition in the city hall, and suggestions for the laying out of the proposed new city hall to get greater staff efficiency would all be covered by the special committee.

C.I.O. Electric Workers Strike; 200,000 Involved

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike of 200,000 C.I.O. electrical workers started today and the ranks of the idle because of labor disputes in the United States began climbing toward the 600,000 mark—the highest in more than a year.

The strike call against the General Electric, Westinghouse and General Motors in 16 states in a wage dispute was the largest single work stoppage since before the outbreak of war in the Pacific.

Previously the largest work stoppage against an industry was that against General Motors, involving 175,000 C.I.O. United Auto Workers who struck last Nov. 21 in support of demands for a 30-per cent wage increase.

Effects of the electrical workers' walkout, which involved a major part of U.S. production of home and industrial electrical appliances, were not immediately determined. The strike came one day after the date scheduled for a work stoppage by 800,000 C.I.O. steelworkers, which has been delayed one week. Another major walkout, by some 328,000 packinghouse workers, is set for midnight.

LAST EFFORTS FAIL

The walkout by the electrical workers, who had demanded wage increases of $2 a day, was announced at international headquarters of the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers in New York city. Last minute efforts by federal conciliators to avert the strike were unsuccessful.

As the electrical walkout got under way government conciliators headed by Edgar L. Warren, chief of the conciliation service, made last-minute efforts in Chicago to avert the threatened packinghouse strike. Federal officials summoned representatives of packing plants and the C.I.O. United Packinghouse Workers as well as the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers of the American Federation of Labor to meet in an attempt to settle the wage dispute.

Reports from Washington said government officials had offered additional price relief as a basis for ending the controversy. The C.I.O. union's original demands were for a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike, but it reduced that to 17½ cents.

SUPPLIES FALL OFF

A strike, if called, would hit 139 major packing plants. The strike threat already was felt in stockyards as supplies fell off sharply.

In Detroit, the C.I.O. United Auto Workers' Union prepared to resume negotiations with the Ford Motor Company. The union is ready to accept that 17½ per cent wage increase recommended by a government fact-finding board as a means of breaking the wage deadlock.

Operations in the steel industry, against which a strike of 800,000 was delayed until midnight Sunday, moved toward normal although nearly 30,000 steelworkers were idle and one new walkout was reported.

Housewives of Buenos Aires' 500,000 homes lived on stored food or walked the streets in search of a few small stores which were willing to open and supply customers. Milk deliveries continued, as did transportation and public services, but food, department and neighborhood stores were closed.

Butchers remained open the first day of the lockout in order to sell meat previously prepared. One large bakery remained open to supply hospitals and prisons, but in the remainder of the city only stale bread, or none at all, was available.

Employers, in order to emphasize their action was directed against the government decree ordering year-end bonuses and salary increases and not against workers, generally promised to pay wages for the three days of the closure.

The Ministry of Industry and Commerce said shop owners would be warned first and that if they then refused to open the government would take possession.

German Navy Officer Testifies Against Doenitz In War Trial

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—An affidavit by Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz introduced before the International Military Tribunal here today exploded the German propaganda claim that the British liner Athenia was sunk by Britain herself in 1939 in a plot to push the United States into the war.

Great Britain demanded the conviction of Doenitz, successor to Hitler as Fuehrer of Germany, as a "murderer" for U-boat attacks on helpless sailors in lifeboats and for ordering the ruthless shooting of commandos.

Col. H. J. Phillimore, a British prosecutor, told the tribunal trying Doenitz and 21 other top Nazis as war criminals that Doenitz was "no plain sailor" and was a key cog behind Nazi preparations for aggressive war. The affidavit, signed by Doenitz Nov. 17, 1945, said the Athenia was sunk by the German submarine U-30 Sept. 3, 1939, the day Britain entered the war. On board were 1,500 passengers. German propaganda at the time tried to lay the blame on Winston Churchill.

Would Shift Blame

Bolestering the case against Doenitz, Lt.-Cmdr. Karl Heinz Moehle, a German submarine commander who sank 20 Allied ships, testified against the Admiral, asserting he did not want to be blamed for his former chief's order to shoot up lifeboats.

As the prosecution denounced Doenitz the cold, aloof admiral dropped his pose of indifference for the first time and cursed and defended himself in mutterings with other defendants in the dock.

The British prosecutor, also prosecuting Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, predecessor of Doenitz as commander of the German navy, introduced a captured Nazi document in which Raeder asserted that Hitler's ideal year for attacking Britain was 1944 and the German navy, which took his word for everything, was caught short by the outbreak of the war in 1939.

Lt.-Cmdr. Moehle said he was a willing witness, explaining: "When I was taken prisoner it was claimed I was the author

Explosion Felt For 1,000 Feet; Number Injured

WELCH, W. Va. (AP)—General Manager P. P. Kerr of the New River and Pocahontas Consolidated Coal Company said today that all of the 267 men in the Havaco Mine No. 9 had been accounted for. Twelve were known to be dead.

E. L. Chatfield, an inspector-at-large of the State Mines Department, said he was informed 267 men were in the workings when the explosion occurred around 9:30 a.m.

The force was so great that negro pupils in a schoolhouse and workers in the store and office of the New River and Pocahontas Consolidated Coal Company, from 500 to 1,000 feet away, were injured by shattered glass and debris.

5 Apparently Dead

Pete Wimmer, 48-year-old company employee, told interviewers at a hospital following his escape from the blasted workings that on the way out he "counted five men who looked like they might be dead."

Wimmer said he was at work at a point approximately 3,000 feet from the main shaft. He was brought to a Welch hospital suffering from head injuries.

Unofficial estimates said that from one-third to one-half of those who came from the mine alive walked up the shaft steps, which somehow remained intact although the tangle appeared to be destroyed. The shaft is about 400 feet deep.

Others had to be helped or dragged from the mine, and some of them appeared to be semi-conscious from shock.

Hospitals of Welch, a city of 7,000 population and the county seat of the biggest bituminous coal-producing county in the United States, were quickly filled to overflowing with injured miners and children from the school.

Edward Mullins and his son James, who were not hurt, told newspapermen they were the first to reach the surface from the inner workings.

Walked to Safety

The father said they were at work about one mile from the shaft in No. 3 entry when they heard the blast.

They said the workings immediately became so dark from smoke and dust that they had to stoop over and trail their lights on the steel mine rails in order to find their way to the opening.

About an hour after the explosion, the grimy workers began coming up the long shaft steps, singly or in pairs and threes.

Those not injured usually were almost dragging a less fortunate fellow worker.

No Fall Fair Here This Year

There will be no fall fair in Victoria in 1946 it was decided at a meeting of the B.C. Agricultural Association, Ald. Edward Williams, chairman of the city's representatives on the association, announced today.

Last fall it was hoped that with the coming of peace it would be possible to revive the annual fair again, but because the 1946 fair, the local association does not feel that a fair can be held here either, Ald. Williams said.

He explained that many of the exhibits come from the prairies and it was doubtful if stockmen and agriculturalists would bother to show for just one fair at the coast.

Before another fair can be held at Willow's a livestock building will have to be built to replace the one destroyed by fire in April, 1944, and extensive renovation work carried on, Ald. Williams pointed out. It has been tentatively estimated that this will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, but it could have been done in time for the 1946 fair if one were going to be held, he said. All new buildings will have to be of fireproof construction to comply with Oak Bay building by-laws.

Halt Retirement Of 65-Year-Olds

To become effective April 1, an order which would retire all provincial government women employees at 60 and men at 65 has been given a six-month hold through provincial order-in-council.

Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson, who is also Minister of Labor, said the hold had been made necessary because of difficulties of replacing the employees, who will number an estimated 500, starting of the province's fiscal year April 1, and difficulties of providing for allowances for retirement, and superannuation benefits.

The order-in-council was passed today by the provincial executive, and the previous proclamation was rescinded, Mr. Pearson said.

Mr. Pearson estimated those affected by the order would include about 350 civil servants and about 150 other provincial government employees who had not been brought under the Civil Service Act.

Urge Legislature Be Broadcast

EDMONTON (CP)—A delegation of the Alberta Federation of Labor today suggested to Premier E. C. Manning and members of his Cabinet it would be "very good policy" for the Alberta government to broadcast debates of the Legislative Assembly, making use of the publicly owned telephone system's station.

Want $55,380 For Street Lighting

The electric light committee will recommend that $55,380.83 be spent on the maintenance of Victoria's street lighting system in 1945, Ald. F. G. Mulliner, chairman, said following the initial meeting of the committee.

This is in addition to any expansion or renovation program which was proposed last year, and which may cost up to $248,000, he explained. The committee will hold a special meeting to consider this program.

Contained in the item to go before the city council Monday is $19,480.83 for salaries, $32,900 for maintenance, and $3,000 for cluster light maintenance.

Doubt Couple Held Guilty in Kidnap

CHICAGO (AP)—Police Capt. John L. Sullivan announced today that he was convinced a couple seized for questioning had no connection with the kidnapping of Suzanne Degnan, six, on Jan. 7.

The woman and her man friend were hunted, seized and questioned because she left an automobile in a west side garage for a hurry-up repair job the day of the kidnapping and didn't call for it. In the car detectives found blood stains, a blanket and some oily paper something like that on which the kidnappers wrote a $20,000 ransom note.

The detectives also theorized, at first, the car was like one seen in the kidnap vicinity early Jan. 7.

Capt. Sullivan, however, said he was satisfied with the couple's story that they were in Galena, Ill., and Dubuque, Ia., the night of Jan. 6-7.

NEW QUEEN OF AMPHIBIANS—Nearly twice as large as any other amphibian plane is the Glenn L. Martin Co.'s new twin-engine XPBM-5A, above, pictured during its recent first flight. Similar in design to Martin's PBM Mariner, an outstanding rough-water patrol plane, it is expected to be especially valuable for air-sea rescues. It weighs approximately 35 tons, is powered by two twin 2,100-h.p. engines, is 80 feet in length, has a 118-foot wingspan and cruises at 147 m.p.h. with speed maximum of 200 m.p.h. Turret atop fuselage is a radar dome.

Policemen Pass First Aid Course

Thirty-five members of the city police department all passed St. Johns Ambulance Association first aid examinations held in December. It was announced by Police Inspector Harry Mercer today.

Several of the members of the force, all of whom take compulsory first aid training, took the two-month course during November and December in order to qualify for higher standings in the St. Johns organization.

Three received the highest classification, three the second highest, 12 received vouchers and 17, most of them newcomers to the department, got their certificates.

Instructor for the first aid course was Herbert Stokes. The policemen were examined by Dr. J. D. Stenstrom who was assisted by Alex Jarvie of the St. Johns Ambulance Association.

Say It's Reginans

REGINA (CP)—The correct designation for the people of Regina is Reginans—at least so the Board of Trade says.

That's what they told author H. L. Mencken in answer to his recent query as to what was correct—Reginans or Reginans.

But before deciding, board members debated at length the correct terminology for citizens not only of Regina but other Saskatchewan centres. And the debate produced such tongue-twisters as Moose Jawers, Saskatoonians, Swift Currentites, Gravelbourgians—or Gravelbourgers—and Grand Couleleians.

Trade With Britain 2-Way Traffic Plan Urged By MacKinnon

LONDON (CP)—The Times of London today carried an interview with Trade Minister MacKinnon and editorially approved the Canadian Minister's statement last week that the mutual trade of Canada and the United Kingdom should be based on the principle of two-way traffic.

The Times quoted Mr. MacKinnon as saying he is in London for a three-fold purpose: To discuss Canadian-United Kingdom trade with British representatives; to review the sale and marketing of Canadian wheat in the British market and discuss with Canadian trade commissioners the trend of Canadian trade in Britain now and in the future.

The editorial said Mr. MacKinnon's special purpose was to study the British market for Canadian wheat and added: "So spectacular has been Canada's industrial advance during the war that her position as a great wheat producer has been somewhat obscured."

Canada's economy, the editorial continued, was closely geared with that of the United States for the war effort and now is "completely free to determine the course of its development."

The general aim of the Canadian policy at the coming international trade conference "will clearly be a furtherance of Canadian trade with both Britain and the United States."

5-Year-Old Excused From Duty On Jury

NEW YORK (AP)—Five-year-old Freddy Fishbach trudged obediently into State Supreme Court here Monday in answer to a summons calling him for jury duty.

James McGurkin, commissioner of jurors, took one look at the brown-eyed "prospective juror," and immediately vacated the summons, while Freddy amused himself by sailing a paper airplane. The lad's wailing "X" on the document officially relieved him of his jury call.

How did it happen? McGurkin's explanation was that the names were chosen from a list of registered voters issued by the Board of Elections and nothing is known about the person summoned in each case.

Visit to Toronto No Impossibility, Says Happy Mayor

NEW YORK (CP)—Mayor Robert Saunders jubilantly told reporters here that a visit to Toronto by Winston Churchill is not an impossibility.

The burly Toronto chief magistrate came to New York Monday to extend an official invitation to Mr. Churchill to visit Toronto, upon the Conservative party leader's arrival here aboard the Queen Elizabeth for a holiday and rest.

Mr. Saunders was introduced to Mr. Churchill after a press conference and he said afterwards that the 71-year-old statesman had told him regarding the invitation: "I don't know just what our plans will entail yet—but I'll certainly think it over."

Mrs. Churchill told him, however: "My, that would be wonderful—if only we can arrange it." Mr. and Mrs. Churchill will spend the next six weeks in Florida.

Child's Death Under Grader Was Accident

ALBERNI (CP)—The coroner's jury which inquired into the death of five-year-old Dennis Burnip, run over and killed by a city of Alberni grader Jan. 8, brought in a verdict of accidental death here Monday night.

The jury recommended that a second man follow the grader on foot in all future operations and that mothers should impress their children not to play on public thoroughfares.

Evidence showed that the boy, along with three others, was riding on the grader, and suddenly decided to get off and on alighting he slipped and fell. He endeavored to crawl out of the way, but was struck by the rear wheel, which went over his head.

How to save more with the bulk foods

Cold weather sharpens appetites and calls for hearty meals. Here are some favorite ideas for winter-time meals, using the inexpensive bulk foods—rice, lentils—and macaroni products.

PLAF

This is a pleasant change from potatoes and goes with almost any meat. Brown 1 cup white rice in 1 tablespoon of drippings in a heavy kettle or frying pan with a tightly-fitting lid. Add gradually 1 cup bouillon or meat stock (2 bouillon cubes and 1 cup hot water make a good bouillon), 1 cup canned tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and steam until rice is just moist about 2 hours, or until peas are soft and tender. Add more water if necessary. Serves 6 to 8.

SPLIT PEA OR LENTIL SOUP

It's nice to float sautéed slices of frankfurter on this soup and serve it with hot garlic French bread for a supper main dish. Place 2 cups washed split peas or lentils in a large kettle and add 2 quarts of water, 3 or 4 stalks of celery, 2 carrots, 1 medium-size onion, a bay leaf, and salt and pepper. If you have it, add the bone left from a roast, a few slices of salt pork or bits of bacon sautéed until brown, or a couple of tablespoons of meat dripping. Boil rapidly for 20 minutes and then simmer slowly about 2 hours, or until peas are soft and tender. Add more water if necessary. Serves 6 to 8.

DEVILED MACARONI OR NOODLES

To make an unusual accompaniment for meat loaf or pot roast, season about 3 cups steaming hot macaroni or noodles with 1 to 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, a dash or two of Worcestershire sauce, ½ cup grated sharp cheese, and butter. Sometimes a couple of tablespoons of chopped onion may be added.

HOW TO USE LEFT-OVER RICE

Rice is so easy to keep and so convenient to have on hand that it's a good idea to cook plenty extra. Just store it in a covered container in the refrigerator. Here are some favorite ways with leftover rice—

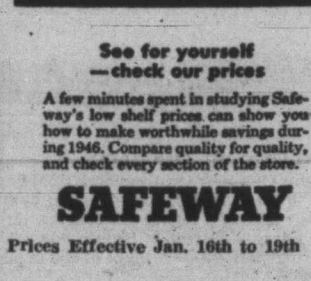

RICE CAKES—To each cup of cooked rice add 1 slightly beaten egg. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls in hot shortening in a frying pan. Brown slowly, turning once. Serve hot, plain or with syrup.

RICE WAFFLES OR MUFFINS—Substitute cold, cooked rice for ½ the flour in your favorite waffle or muffin recipe. Bake as usual.

ADD cooked rice to soup, stuffing, or make it into rice pudding.

German Families Ordered By British To Grow Vegetables

BERLIN (CP)—The entire Tiergarten, Berlin's famous downtown park, is to become a huge potato patch filled by the Germans in a "dig-for-existence" program to be launched in the British sector here.

A critical shortage of potatoes is anticipated after the middle of February and the potato-park project is only one of the schemes by which the British occupation command hopes to meet the situation.

Every householder with space for a garden will be required by law to grow vegetables. Seed and fertilizer will be sold at nominal prices and seeding will begin in the spring. British authorities have ordered several factories to produce garden tools from scrap.

The grounds of the Kaiser's old palace near the Tiergarten also will become a huge vegetable garden, as will hundreds of acres of other city parks and vacant lots.

The Tiergarten and other large areas will be farmed out as allotments, each expected to grow one year's supply of potatoes for one person. Already 20,000 allotments have been handed out and the number will be increased by 30,000.

Priority to Rejoin R.C.A.F. Ends Feb. 1: Ground Crew Needed

OTTAWA (CP)—Wartime R.C.A.F. personnel have preference for ground crew berths with the permanent force until Feb. 1, the date when general recruiting will be launched for 10,000 men to fill these trades.

In an announcement today, nothing was said about recruiting for aircrew, but it was understood this branch has been so popular there will be little trouble finding sufficient men. The permanent force will have a strength of about 20,000.

It has been indicated in previous ministerial announcements that the emphasis in recruiting will be on improved pay and allowances over pre-war permanent forces and good opportunity for promotion.

The R.C.A.F. preference deadline was set because of the early need for planning the proportion of experienced airmen and civilian recruits in the ground trades of the permanent force.

The air force is the first service to announce it is going after civilians, but it was pointed out that "maturely veterans are not barred from joining up after Feb. 1 deadline."

ASKED TO RE-ENLIST

Invitations to re-enlist have been sent to former members of the R.C.A.F. with the assurance that those accepted for the interim force will be taken into the permanent regular air force, subject to satisfactory conduct, efficiency and medical category. War service will count towards pension rights and active service rates of pay will continue until new standards are announced the latter stated.

It was indicated that air force pay and allowance, to be announced shortly, will compare favorably with wages in private industry. The announcement pointed out that an airman's pay is virtually clear of all living expenses which civilians take for granted. An airman receives quarters, rations and clothing, or an allowance in their place, plus medical and dental care. Security is provided by an excellent pension scheme and there are pensions for dependents of those killed on duty.

The announcement said there had been no lack of aircrew volunteers for the regular force, but vacancies existed in almost 70 ground trades.

115,000 Small Arms In Canada Unregistered, Police Disclose

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 115,000 small arms in the hands of Canadians have not been registered with police departments and the owners now have become subject to prosecution under provisions of the Criminal Code, Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials said today.

The number of small arms known to be in the hands of Canadians last May 1 was approximately 215,000. Only about 100,000 have been registered with the police despite the fact that the deadline for registration ended July 1, 1945.

Some leniency has been shown because many of the owners are away from home in the forces and also because new weapons are being brought in daily as war souvenirs.

However, in view of the current crime wave sweeping the country, it is expected the provincial governments, responsible for administration of the Criminal Code, soon will crack down on the defaulters and prosecute them unless good reason can be shown for their failure to register weapons.

FIVE-YEAR PERIODS

The registration of small firearms, which includes all easily concealable weapons, has to be made every five years under the terms of the Criminal Code. When a weapon changes hands the new owner has to register it immediately in his name.

The R.C.M.P. carry out the registrations in all provinces except Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, where the work is done by the Provincial Police and turned over to the Mounties here. However, prosecution for failure to register is the responsibility of the Attorney-General in each of the provinces.

R.C.M.P. officials said that in recent crimes it was found that many of the weapons used, particularly in Ontario, had come from the United States, some of them bearing the stamp of the U.S. army.

HAVE LISTS READY

It is known that the R.C.M.P. has offered to make available to the Attorney-General of each province the list of those known not to have registered small arms so that prosecution may be undertaken. It is not known whether the offer has been accepted.

British Columbia Police estimate there are more than 10,000 small arms in the province still unregistered and whose owners will be prosecuted by city or provincial authorities when detected, Commissioner of Police T. W. S. Parsons said today.

Several months ago the provincial police headquarters issued a warning that all such weapons must be registered and that necessary forms were available at city police offices or at any British Columbia Police station.

To date only about 50 per cent of these arms have been recorded and various police forces have been instructed to watch for all unregistered arms found, and to take the necessary steps to prosecute holders of such weapons.

Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney-General and Acting Premier, today gave wholehearted approval to the announcement from Ottawa that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were about to take action to force registration of 115,000 small arms in Canada yet to be accounted for.

"Very rigid control must be exercised in this matter and I am wholly in favor of the move by the Ottawa authorities," he said.

Chisholm Decries Desire for Safety

OTTAWA (CP)—Soldiers have learned to be ready to sacrifice their lives, if necessary, for the good of the common cause and the coming generation should be taught the same thing, Maj. Gen. Brock Chisholm, deputy minister of national health and noted psychiatrist, said Monday night.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion, Gen. Chisholm said the last generation had been brought up on the "dreadful slogan" of safety first.

"If that slogan had been right, we would not have been in this war at all," he said. "We would have been much safer out of it. The Germans and Japanese would have taken care of us."

Many things were more important than personal safety and, when wars come, people should not be worried about the integrity of their own persons.

While people in some countries were brought up on the safety first slogan, people in other countries were brought up to live dangerously and to take chances.

He was not suggesting that "we should bring up a generation of killers."

He said the children of this generation should be brought up prepared to sacrifice their lives if necessary for the good of others. Soldiers had learned how to sacrifice "and they should teach the rest of the people, and particularly children."

One of the best things to do was to stop being a veteran and become a civilian. Gen. Chisholm said he was not deprecating veterans' organizations as long as ex-servicemen did not lean on them. The Canadian Legion and other such organizations were great in that they provided places and opportunities for veterans to get emotional rest.

Chicago May Add 1,000 Policemen To Fight Crime Wave

CHICAGO (AP)—Determined investigators worked doggedly today trying to solve the week-old Degnan kidnap-slitting, latest in Chicago's crime wave, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly called for 500 to 1,000 more policemen.

As clues collapsed and trails grew cold in the abduction and dismemberment of Suzanne Degnan, six, a killing which horrified the country and shocked Chicago into acute awareness of its increasing violent crimes, the police systematically rechecked neighbors of the Degnan family in the north side Edgewater district for possible leads.

Sewer department crews cleaned out catch basins, searching for the little child's arms, still missing after all other parts of the body had been found in four sewer catch basins last Monday night, some 12 hours after she was taken from her bedroom by a kidnapper who left a $20,000 ransom note.

Workmen shoveled tons of coal out of the basement of an apartment building, the basement laundry room of which detectives decided was the "murder room" where the killer dissected the body.

But nowhere in all this methodical police work following upon last week's sensations had there yet appeared a solution or a capture of the killer.

Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast said the Degnan case was the police department's No. 1 job until it is solved. He ordered that the necessary men and facilities of the department be devoted exclusively to it.

Mayor Kelly announced he would recommend to the city council Wednesday the hiring of from 500 to 1,000 more policemen, especially for assignment to neighborhood beats.

Chicago has had a series of vicious crimes, many unsolved, and increasing in number late in 1945. In addition there are older unsolved cases to plague the police, one of the most spectacular of which was the fatal shooting in the Drake Hotel Jan. 19, 1944, of Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, wife of a Washington State Department attache.

VITAL ROLE FOR CANADA

CANADA'S INCLUSION IN THE Economic and Social Council of the United Nations for a three-year term, as one of the six of its 18 members who will serve for that period, goes a long way toward making up for her failure to win a seat among the six nonpermanent members of the all-important Security Council. While the smaller body is clothed with all the powers required to prevent a disturbance of the peace, to nip trouble in the bud if persuasion fails, the authority which Chapter Ten of the United Nations Charter confers on the Economic and Social Council opens up a vast field of endeavor in which this country's influence will have practical scope. Nor is it too much to say that if this agency is permitted to operate in the manner visualized by various spokesmen at San Francisco, many of the problems which are likely to perplex mankind in the next few years should respond to treatment capable of keeping national tempers in check.

It is not necessary at this stage to re-emphasize Canada's proud place among the nations of the world, both in the political and economic sense, but having lived in peaceful association with the United States for more than a century she has acquired a wealth of experience on which the other members of the Economic and Social Council no doubt will find it profitable to draw. As the senior overseas Dominion of the British Commonwealth of Nations, moreover, she has been able to familiarize herself with those forms of government—some good and some open to debate—which operate in the lands that are only just beginning to shed their swaddling clothes in the administrative sense. These are the areas on the globe, of course, in which the seeds of discontent may germinate unless wise counsels shall be allowed to prevail. In this field of activity the Economic and Social Council will obviously find much to occupy its attention.

In its general sense, the United Nations Charter gives the Economic and Social Council power to initiate studies and reports with respect to international economic, social, cultural, educational, health, and related matters; and it may also make recommendations in respect of such questions to the General Assembly, to the members of the United Nations, and to the specialized agencies concerned. Specifically, too, it is authorized to make suggestions for the purpose of promoting respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all. It is entitled, also, to prepare draft conventions for submission to the General Assembly, and it may call, in accordance with rules prescribed by the United Nations, international conferences on matters falling within its competence.

Judged by the scope of the all-embracing activities which the Charter prescribes, therefore, it will be seen that Canada's membership in the Economic and Social Council will provide her with untold opportunities for diligence in respect of those points which, after all, are largely provocative of international strife. For although she does not pretend to be a "big" nation in the political and diplomatic sense, the contribution she made to military triumph, plus wide growth in her economic stature during the war years, will equip her to play a dominant part in the Council's work for an enduring peace.

OPERATIONS CRAMPED

IF THE PROVISION OF EXPANDED accommodation will assist the city police in the dispatch of their duties, it seems only reasonable that recommendations by the Chief Constable calling for extension of the present headquarters should be heeded by competent authorities. Unfortunately for this community and the majority of others, the indications of increased and increasing crime are all too obvious. That, in itself, is going to keep law enforcement officers busy. If their work can be rendered more efficient by added office space, it would be economical to provide it.

To anyone familiar with the station, its physical inadequacies are obvious. Essential privacy is denied officials who should be freed from distraction while carrying on specific tasks at headquarters. Unless they have more room and more offices that is an impossibility. It is important, too, that the particularized duties of the juvenile officer and the police matron should be performed in quarters removed from the hurly-burly of what is called the charge office but what is, in reality, a general office. The elements of privacy which can be so valuable in dealing with young offenders—a principle underscored by the rules which permit no publicity on juvenile cases—are next to non-existent in the present arrangement of the building.

Faced with a mounting crime wave, Victoria must place increased dependence on the police. That entails an obligation on the part of the city to provide adequate accommodation in which the members of the force can work.

A CLEANER SUMMER

BY THOSE CITIZENS WHO HAVE watched anxiously for the arrival of garbage men during these days of heavy stoking and consequent accumulation of ash and cinders, early action by the city's public works committee to improve the collection and disposal systems will be awaited with more than passing interest. There is no lack of appreciation here of the difficulties of solving the problem. But there is a growing resentment over the manner in which succeeding city councils have fumbled through, year after year, without meeting their obligations in this matter.

The words of Mayor Percy George, in his inaugural address, have been noted by citizens generally. They view hopefully his remarks that acquisition of a new collection unit has improved the situation. And, if his advocacy of the purchase of another vehicle will further speed the service, they unquestionably will give him their support.

Fully endorsed, too, will be his recommendation to the committee to investigate the possibility of securing an efficient crusher. Some years ago equipment was set up for that purpose. It was not 100 per cent efficient, but it went a long way toward reducing the return of refuse to city beaches after dumping. Because, in an imperfect world, the crusher was not perfect, the city declined to purchase the machinery. Consequently the benefits from it were only temporary.

It will be too late if the council waits until summer before doing something about garbage. For years the seaborne refuse has been a familiar but unwanted acquaintance to those who seek enjoyment on our shores. And here is a case where familiarity breeds contempt not only for the refuse.

During a preceding term in the aldermanic lists, Dr. J. D. Hunter interested himself in the question. It is to be hoped his knowledge of the situation and his earlier experience will place him in a position to solve the problem now that he sits as chairman of the public works group.

VALUE OF EXPERIENCE

NEWSWEEK'S BERLIN CORRESPONDENT James O'Donnell recently conducted a survey of the British zone in Germany and came to the conclusion it was exceedingly British. He emphasized the methods in vogue there as a combination of military and civilian working together with complete understanding of the job in hand and imbued with the spirit of "let's-get-on-with-it." What he implied specifically was that the British have the experience necessary for the job. They take to it naturally.

The British army of occupation is no doubt largely composed of men who have never been out of England before; but these have been accustomed to war conditions at home. They know nothing of the ease and safety of this continent. Moreover, the core of the army is composed of regulars who have served all over the world—just as their fathers served before them. They have been imbued with the discipline and spirit which Mr. O'Donnell sums up as "Let's Not Be Beasts to the Natives."

British soldiers no doubt are just as anxious to get home as the Americans, even though they have neither the money nor the scope that the average American has for having a good time at home. They are as desirous of escaping military discipline and returning to their civilian jobs. But their outlook on their job from the time the war began is traditional: responsibilities ensuing are enduring and automatic, and the British know it from a long experience of which the Americans have had little.

IN THE LEISURE TO COME

IN THE COURSE OF A CAREFULLY-prepared report, the British Columbia Library Association draws attention to a social condition which must claim thought and action from the public and their leaders if one of the greater dangers of reduced hours of work is to be avoided. Says the report in part:

"The next few years seem destined to witness a widespread reduction in the length of the working day. What the worker does in his off-the-job time, once devoted almost wholly to eating and sleeping, has now become a social question of the first importance. Additional leisure time can easily result in additional delinquency and excesses of a hundred kinds."

The thesis is not new. It merely relates to the immediate future the old saw that Satan always has some work for idle hands to do. The fact of the matter, as seen by the library association, is that too few people have recognized the need to employ leisure in socially valuable forms. It seems to be the case that people of this age, having learned to work hard at their particular trades and businesses, must carry that same rate of energy expenditure into their play time. In what are called harmless pursuits, the only person placed in jeopardy through that trend is the individual who cannot slow down in his recreational life. But a relative abundance of leisure on the hands of those who do not know how to use it does not always lead to innocuous pursuits.

That is one of the reasons why the association is advocating a revitalized interest in public libraries. They afford an instructive and recreational medium which can provide a profitable outlet for leisure energies, can stimulate thought and social consciousness and furnish the answer to a material desire to the problem of spare time which is foreseeable in the near future. That, of course, is only one factor in the association's analysis of public needs which the library can fill. But it is one to which citizens should address themselves when the libraries seek their support.

But what good is a ceiling price of $10 if the manufacturer cuts and quality and gives you a $3 article.

Walter Lippmann ON THE ART OF SECRECY

PRESIDENT TRUMAN in Washington and the Secretary of State in London had to take time out to convince Mr. Vandenberg and some of the other Senators that they were not about to give away a state secret. This bit of news ought to be welcomed as showing that even in these tragic times the comic spirit has not deserted us. For surely this is the first time in history that a government ever walked to the centre of the world's stage, turned all the spotlights on itself, and in the loudest possible voice promised its own representatives that it would keep a deep, dark secret.

It was done, of course, in order to reassure Senator Vandenberg. But why, one wonders, did the Senator, if he is really interested in keeping a secret, arrange it so that he had to be reassured with the maximum publicity?

IF THE UNITED STATES is really going in for keeping secrets, she will have to study the art of keeping secrets. It is an art that in her fortunate past she never had to learn: she was not a military power nor a world power, and so had no important secrets that she wished to keep. Before the war and during it she did have things that it was really important to keep secret. The most valuable of these things is not now a secret, thanks chiefly to the Pearl Harbor investigating committee, namely that she had cracked the Japanese and German codes, and was highly adept at cracking any code.

But during the war she managed to keep this secret from her enemies, and the advantage it gave her was enormous. Yet it was good luck more than care that the secret was kept. The Japanese intelligence was not smart enough to realize that the code was cracked even though evidence, quite sufficient to tip them off, was published in that country early in the war. That sort of luck cannot be relied upon.

BUT THIS INCIDENT is worth thinking about, particularly now that the United States has adopted the policy of keeping the secret of the atomic bomb. The Japanese were not smart enough to realize she had cracked their code though the essential clue had been published. Now a true system of secrecy should be one that keeps the essential clue, not from the general public, not from ordinary government officials, not from the generals and the admirals, not from a poor intelligence service like the Japanese, but from the one smart man somewhere who if he gets that clue will get the secret. The secret has to be kept not from Watson but from Sherlock Holmes, and the most elaborate precautions are useless if they do not deceive Sherlock Holmes.

I do not know how much our enemies knew about the United States manufacturing the atomic bomb, or how much friendly governments knew, or how much about it. But of one thing Senator Vandenberg and others may be sure—whatever is smart enough to have penetrated the secret is smart enough not to let us realize that he has penetrated it. Foreign governments will do exactly what General Marshall tries to do about the codes: they will keep it ultra-secret that they have got the secret, or any clue to it.

NOW THIS is just what the very people are not doing who are most concerned about the secret of the bomb. They have forgotten that Sherlock Holmes and not Watson is the man they have to worry about. In this field the Sherlock Holmeses are men of science, men used to detecting and weighing and reasoning from bits of evidence that ordinary men would not understand and would not notice. So the question is not whether Mr. Molotov, for example, can get the secret from Mr. Byrnes; the question is whether any scientist anywhere can smell it out.

If this scientist is working for a foreign government, he will not let the United States know how much he knows. He will tell his government what he needs to know, and what are the tell-tale clues that their agents should look for. It is against this man, who must be imagined as being every bit as learned and as astute as the best men we have, that those who mean to keep the secret have to match their wits.

IT IS NAIVE to suppose, as apparently Senator Vandenberg does, that secrecy depends on whether the U.S. government is willing officially to inform other governments. All governments, including that of the United States, use secret intelligence, and it is by secret intelligence that they will in fact obtain—are no doubt in fact obtaining—their information. What is officially withheld or officially conveyed has very little, probably nothing at all, to do with whether the secret—if there is any—is kept. Moreover, it has not much to do with whether the "inspection" we hear so much about is effective. No government really interested in atomic weapons is going to rely on the official inspectors alone.

THERE IS NO POSSIBLE way of telling what secret intelligence has already uncovered. Yet that is the really important secret in this whole business. The Japanese did not know the United States had their secret. Therefore their secrecy deceived only themselves: the more firmly they believed their code was secret, when in fact it was not, the better it was for their enemies. For, relying upon a secrecy that did not exist, they told everything the enemy wanted to know.

The moral, I believe, is that the U.S. is in great danger in this business. If Senator Vandenberg in his present state of innocence is going to be a directing mind—of doing what the Japanese did, of deceiving herself rather than others.

GLOBAL SURVEY

MONARCHY MOVE BRINGS NEW TEST FOR SPAIN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Traveler
MADRID (AP)—This is a crucial moment in the turbulent history of Spain, for the signs are that the question of restoration of the monarchy is coming to a head.

The country is sharply divided politically, as the world learned from the bloody civil war of 1936-39. This division offers an ample explanation for the mystery which surrounds the reported negotiations between Don Juan, pretender to the throne, and Generalissimo Franco. Extreme caution is necessary.

A fresh indication that the monarchists and Franco are manoeuvring into position for a decision lies in the official admission that Don Juan and his wife are to meet her parents for a visit on neutral Portuguese soil. This could be just a family affair, but the consensus here is that Don Juan's father-in-law, Don Carlos, is to act as an intermediary between the pretender and the generalissimo.

N. FRANCO TALKS

The Spanish ambassador to Lisbon, Nicholas Franco, the generalissimo's brother, also confirmed Don Juan's visit at a press conference in the Portuguese capital Saturday, as became known today when newspapers reported the statement. This is the first time the subject has been mentioned in the Spanish press.

It is highly significant that the question of this visit should be dealt with officially at the moment when Britain, the United States and France are to meet at the request of Franco to discuss Allied relations with Spain. Talk of Don Juan's return to the throne might ease the position of the Franco government, which has not been happy in its association with Washington, London and Paris.

The 33-year-old pretender several times during the Second Great War urged the restoration of the monarchy and the alliance of Spain with the Allies. Well-informed quarters in Madrid believe Don Juan takes the position that he already is king by right of succession. However, he said he would not return to Spain without a call. He advocates a constitutional monarchy with a free press.

Don Juan did come back to Spain during the civil war in 1936 and join Franco's forces. The pretender did this on the advice of his late father, ex-King Alfonso, and without the generalissimo's knowledge. When Franco discovered Don Juan's presence, he sent him out of the country for the prince's own safety, and said he would call the royal heir when the right moment arrived.

Is this the right moment? Only the generalissimo knows that. One absolute requisite for the pretender's return would be that he had all the generals and the army with him, for that is the lid on the Spanish pot. It seems obvious that the extreme left wing in Spain might seize on the moment when the government was changing hands to engineer a coup to re-establish the republic. However, we may be sure that both the generalissimo and the pretender have considered all aspects of the situation carefully.

Margaret Don Wed At St. Luke's Church

The marriage was solemnized Saturday evening in St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, of Margaret Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Don, Andrews Road, and QMS. Joseph Tatham, R.C.E. M.E., youngest son of Mrs. E. A. Tatham, 772 Cloverdale Avenue, and the late Charles Tatham. Rev. Frederick Pike was the officiating minister. The choir and Eric V. Edwards, organist, were in attendance.

A gown of white satin, fashioned with net yoke edged with wide lace, round neckline, lily-point sleeves and a skirt sweeping into a long train, was chosen by the bride. Her embroidered veil of fine net cascaded from a Juliet cap trimmed with white frezias and she carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds and white frezias.

Given away by her brother, James S. Don, Jr., the bride was attended by Miss Jean Dumerton, wearing pale green net over taffeta, with cap and mitts in violet. Herbert Croft was best man.

Following a reception for 40 guests held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tatham left on a honeymoon trip to Edmonton. For traveling, the bride wore a dark brown dress suit with matching hat trimmed with a blue ostrich plume, and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Local Council Urge Continued Price Controls

The Local Council of Women passed a resolution at their meeting Monday afternoon endorsing price controls and consumer branch administration of such controls as long as it is necessary and asking that when circumstances permit the relinquishing of these controls that it be done gradually.

This resolution will be given to Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, member of the Women's regional advisory committee, who leaves for Ottawa today to attend a consumer branch conference Jan. 21 to 23.

Mrs. A. Carmichael was in the chair and there were 36 members present.

Miss Ellen Hart, convener of the citizenship committee spoke of the Chinese community in the city.

"There are 2,800 Chinese citizens in the Victoria area," she said, "and of that number 80 per cent are men with no connection in this country."

"Fifty young Chinese men and women joined the services, many of them earning commissions," she continued, "and the amount the Chinese community subscribed in Victory Bonds is $1,400,000."

NO WOMEN'S CLUBS
Asked if there were any Chinese women's organizations in the city Miss Hart replied that the men are the spokesmen in Chinese families.

Mrs. Carmichael read the minutes of the sub-executive meeting of the National Council of Women held in Toronto last November.

On the recommendation of Mrs. Hugh McKenzie, convener of parks and recreation, a motion was passed asking that the city council and parks board committee go back to their original policy of taking out alternate trees instead of cutting down whole blocks as they are doing at present.

A report was tabled that a suggestion made by the Local Council of Women to mark with plaques Emily Carr's home and other historical spots in the city was being considered by the city council.

Mrs. Bertha Parsons, nominated by acclamation, is the new president of the Local Council of Women for 1946-47. The nominating committee presented their report on other officers for election and it was announced that the annual meeting had been changed to Feb. 20-21.

Women of Austria Divorcing Germans

VIENNA (AP)—More than 8,000 divorce suits have been filed in the Vienna civil courts since July, most of them by Viennese women who want to shed their German husbands.

A German husband is a disadvantage now. The Austrian wife of a German is regarded as German, finds herself unable to hold a job, is forced to obtain a permit to live in her home town and is faced with the possibility of being sent to Germany.

A complication, however, is that there is no contact between Austrian and German courts at the moment, and a divorce granted here might be disavowed in Germany. As a result no divorce proceedings involving Germans are being conducted here as yet.

Y.P. Societies

Anniversary Party—The 25th anniversary of Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. was celebrated with a silver jubilee party for old and new members. Stan Clark, a former president, was master of ceremonies. President Margaret McCullough welcomed the guests. A program arranged by Group 1 was as follows: Skit, Joyce Dixon and Arden Myers; violin solo, Irene Collie accompanied by Lorraine Cornish; dances, Marnie McAllister; piano solo, Pamela Terry; vocal, Mary Armitage; election, Catherine Craig. Dean Spencer H. Elliott presented an interpretation of the role of Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." At the close of the program refreshments were served and Mrs. F. J. Laughlin, the longest term member present, cut the birthday cake.

Toad in the Hole—This is a delicious main course dish despite its unpleasant name, a favorite recipe taken from an old cook book. Brown 1 pound of sausage well. Beat 1 egg until very light. Add 2 cups milk, then add 1 cup all-purpose flour, sifted with a ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Put meat in greased casserole. Add batter. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. for 5 minutes. Six servings.

Dorothy Dix

NEXT TO MOTHER

Dear Miss Dix: I am a bride, happy except for one thing. My husband's mother is dead, but he says that she will always come first with him and that he would never have married if she had lived. He says he loves me next to her, and this makes me perfectly miserable as I want to be first in his heart. Please tell me what I can do.

WRETCHED.

Answer: You can use a little common sense and refrain from borrowing trouble. You should worry if you have nothing worse in your life to complain of than your husband's affection for the dead mother.

But I think that your husband is just as wrong and foolish as you are to keep continually throwing his love for his mother in your teeth. A man should never bring his love for his wife and his mother in contrast, because they are two entirely different things. They are not alike in any respect.

MORIBD OBSESSION

Your husband never cared to marry before his mother died simply because he hadn't happened to meet a girl with whom he fell in love. If you had crossed his path, he would have found out quickly enough that mother didn't suffice him and that he wanted the love of a mate.

In his particular case, his love for his mother has become a morbid obsession. He glorifies her and idealizes her because she is dead. You can't argue with this, but can win your husband to a more normal way of thinking by not quarrelling with him on the subject, by not showing any jealousy and by accepting the situation cheerfully and philosophically.

It really means nothing. It takes nothing from you that is your own, and you are very foolish to let it make you unhappy even for a moment. Be jolly and cheerful and affectionate to your husband and his love for his mother will gradually slip back into its rightful place among his sacred memories.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young war widow with a baby a year old. My husband was killed in action, and I have learned that he left all of his $10,000 insurance policy to me. His mother worked hard to rear him, and she was very good to both him and me. Shall I turn over half of his insurance to her? I want to do what is right, and if she is entitled to it, that is what I will do.

MRS. K. A.

Answer: You are not legally obligated to give any of the money to your husband's mother, but you show a fine and generous spirit in wanting to divide with her.

However, my advice to you is to make a little trust fund of the money and arrange it so that she will get the interest on half of it as long as she lives, but the capital will come to you and your boy when she dies. You know it is very difficult for a woman who has never handled money to avoid being cheated out of it when she inherits some.

The DOCTOR Says:

SPECIAL TRAINING REQUIRED FOR DIABETICS
By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

The physician who diagnoses diabetes in his patient plays the most important role in the outcome of the disease. The patient should be told quite frankly the nature of his disease, the fact that it probably will last his lifetime, and the necessity for continuous scientific care. The new diabetic has many things to learn, and a hospital stay is helpful in getting a good start.

Every case of diabetes is an individual problem. Management of the disease is not difficult, but it is time-consuming.

PATIENTS TREAT SELVES

Purpose of diabetic treatment is to prevent loss of sugar through the urine, to prevent an abnormal breakdown of protein and its conversion into sugar, and to hold fat metabolism in check. Proper treatment will make the patient look well, feel well and enjoy life. All diabetic patients must be taught to test their own urine and to keep themselves sugar free.

Good diabetic management is based upon proper diet. Although various diets are used, there is one point on which all agree: that is to keep the total calories down so the patient stays slim. When overweight is corrected, diabetes improves. The various diets also are in agreement in mineral, protein and vitamins recommended; the only variation is in amounts of fat and sugar prescribed.

DIETS START SIMPLY

The diets vary with age, sex, weight and occupation of the patient. New diabetics usually are started on a simple diet and alterations are made as indicated.

Insulin is given to diabetic patients to compensate for deficiency of the pancreas. A normal person secretes a small amount of insulin at all times, and a large amount when he eats starch and sugar. The average diabetic patient injects a single dose of protamine insulin each morning, which works slowly, lessening the danger of insulin shock resulting from an overdose. Hunger, weakness, sweating, trembling and apprehension are signs of beginning insulin reaction, and unless the condition is corrected, loss of consciousness may follow. A small amount of sugar by mouth usually will correct the condition.

Consider New Hospital

Report on the cost and site of a new hospital will be made at a meeting Jan. 30 in Mahon Hall, Ganges Harbor. It was decided at an executive meeting of the board of the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital.

The meeting will be open to the public.

MICROSCOPE SHOWS PRESENCE OF BACTERIA AND TINY WORMS

Microbes or bacteria, are of very small size. The head of a pin is large enough for thousands of them to find a resting place.

Thanks to the microscope, we are able to see hundreds of kinds of microbes. They have been studied with care, and facts have been learned about their histories.

Many kinds of microbes increase by dividing into parts. If they are in a place where they can grow well, they may double in number each half hour.

If dividing took place each 30 minutes, one microbe would increase to four at the end of an hour. In an hour and a half there would be eight of them. If all lived, there would be 65,536 microbes at the end of eight hours. The doubling of a number brings high figures after it is done time and again. Thus, in 15 hours, the number of microbes would be more than 1,000,000,000.

One scientist figured that at the end of 35 hours there would be enough bacteria to fill 100 freight cars!

India Industrialists Favor Bombay Plan

Explaining India's Bombay plan to University Extension Association members at Victoria College Monday evening, Professor A. C. Cooke of the University of British Columbia told of the political and economic problems facing the country.

Professor Cooke stressed the Bombay plan. He said it would provide for a 130 per cent increase in agriculture and a 500 per cent increase in industry within 15 years. He added that it had been backed by the country's industrialists. "The plan is not possible until the people of India gain their independence," he said, "and their independence is not possible until they learn to agree among themselves."

He told of a muddled political picture in India. Britain, he said, was prepared to grant the people their independence "as soon as they are prepared for it."

Sir Robert Holland, an authority on India, was among those who took an active part in the discussion period.

Will Return To City Police Force

J. C. "Jimmy" Strong, well known city police constable who was the first of 18 members of the department to join the armed forces, recently returned to the city after five years and seven months overseas with the Canadian army.

Police Chief John A. McLellan said today that Strong would return to the police force in about a month's time.

Strong left the police department to join the Canadian Army Provost Corps in June, 1940. He had been on the city force since August, 1922.

He joined the army as a private and now holds the rank of regimental sergeant major, and while overseas served in France, Germany and Holland as well as in England.

New Vegetables Popular at Market

Crisp salads are coming back into their own after the heavy holiday menus, judging from the popularity of improved vegetables, arriving regularly down Wholesale Row these days.

Highlighting the scene are the new bunch carrots which began moving in last week with another crop due Tuesday. New cabbage from Utah, quantities of lettuce, broccoli and parsley are on hand and the first car of Chula Vista celery for this season has arrived.

Regular shipments of Texas spinach are coming in and Mexican field tomatoes continue to hold a good local demand. California limes are available.

Oak Bay Conservatives Protest Retention of Japanese In Canada

A resolution protesting the retention in Canada of persons of Japanese origin will be forwarded to the Dominion government by Oak Bay District Progressive Conservative Association.

At its annual meeting Monday night in St. Mary's Church Hall, the association unanimously approved the drafting and sending of the resolution to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, the secretary of state, minister of justice and John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader.

The Japanese question was brought to the attention of the association by Works Minister Herbert Anscomb.

SEES JAPS BACK HERE
Contending no member of the House of Commons east of the Rockies understood the problem, Mr. Anscomb said everything pointed to the Japanese being able to wander at large in Canada as soon as the peace with Japan was signed and the war was officially ended. He said there was no regulation to prohibit the Japanese from moving about Canada in peacetime.

"I have taken the stand repeatedly and consistently that they must all go back to Japan," said Mr. Anscomb. "I suggest a resolution to the Dominion government."

The resolution protesting the retention of Japanese in Canada was proposed by Mrs. R. D. Harvey.

Another contentious issue suggested by Mr. Anscomb was compulsory voting, which, he said, was to be introduced in Australia and New Zealand, electors there having to pay 10 shillings, or $2.50, for not voting if they had no acceptable excuse. He said the tolls were levied by a registrar and not through the regular court channels.

A report is being prepared on compulsory voting and revision of the voters' lists for presentation to the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association, the meeting was told.

Mr. Anscomb noted that in the last provincial general election 2,500 of the 7,500 registered voters in Oak Bay constituency failed to exercise the franchise.

Something was radically wrong in this, he said, because at no election since Confederation had the issues been clearer.

Whether British Columbians were to continue in their present way of life or under a socialist dictatorship.

Compulsory voting in Australia, he said, had worked very satisfactorily, with 98 per cent of the electorate voting.

He described the campaign in Oak Bay constituency for the Oct. 25 provincial general election as very satisfactory, letters having been sent and all electors

STROLLING among the 1,000 odd football fans in attendance at Sunday's match between Toppers and Nanaimo, bears considerable criticism over the action of city authorities in closing Athletic Park to the soccer interests on such short notice. Footballers were advised at 10 in the morning they would have to switch the cup match to Heywood Avenue, giving them little opportunity to advise the fans of the ground change. Football followers were at a loss to understand why Athletic Park was okay for play Saturday and not Sunday inasmuch as only a small amount of rain fell during the night and early morning. The big crowd that wended its way to Heywood Avenue was evidence of the interest shown in the particular game and no doubt the attendance would have been even bigger at Athletic Park. Tommy Restall, league president, called today to express his appreciation to the fans with cars who provided transportation to the less fortunate.

DOMINOES came up with a smashing victory over touring Harlem Globe Trotters Saturday night. If it were possible to rematch the clubs for some time in February local stars would find themselves up against a vastly changed Trotter line-up. I have that on the authority of little Abe Saperstein, owner of the touring club. "In a month's time I will have three or four top-notch players out of the services and they will be injected into the line-up immediately," Saperstein said. "Of the present members only Duke Cumberland and Zack Clayton will be retained. One of the returning players will be big Ted Strong who is due to come out of the United States navy any day after three years' service."

TALKING to Saperstein before his club went down to defeat at the hands of the Dominoes he expressed dissatisfaction with its performance. "Owing to the pressure of baseball business it has been impossible for me to travel with the Trotters this season, with the result it was not until two weeks ago that I had the opportunity to watch them in action and their play was a distinct shock. As you know, the Trotters have a high reputation to uphold and I am certainly going to make the necessary changes to bring the club up to its standard of former years. The other night my other club, the Kansas City Stars, a combination of youngsters, whipped a team by 17 points that the Trotters just managed to turn back by a single point in an earlier engagement. Yet the Trotters are supposed to be my number one attraction."

GETTING back to baseball Saperstein disclosed that negro baseball last season was a $2,000,000 promotion. "The sport has grown to such proportions that I have to devote most of my time to it," he said. Recognized as a baseball authority I asked Abe for his opinion on the recent decision of the Western International League to have no play-off at the end of the regular league. "I figure they made a terrible mistake as a play-off is one way to keep up interest in the late stages of a league schedule," he said. "They should also play split weeks and would have been smart to have adopted a schedule divided into two halves. The latter gives a club that may get away to a bad opening a chance to start all over. And it all tends to keep the fans interested and that's the important feature."

Rugby Round-Up

Leaders Meet Saturday

A rugged, hard battle is the prediction for Saturday afternoon when Victoria College and J.B.A.A. senior rugby fifteens winners of last week's openers in the second half of the Barnard Cup series, clash in the feature battle of a two-game card at Macdonald Park. Second tussle will bring together last week's losers, Naval College and Oak Bay Wanderers. Both games are set for 2:30.

A mid-week rugby attraction will be an exhibition game between Victoria High School and Naval College intermediate teams at the High School grounds tomorrow afternoon at 3:45.

Some indication of the trying time the J.B.A.A. club has gone through this season to field teams was revealed by manager Bob McInnes Monday night when he reported his casualty-riddled clubs have used 34 players thus far in the 1945-46 campaign. A broken rib suffered by Alex Anderson, just back from the overseas battlefronts, on Saturday is the latest casualty.

REF PRACTICES

At Monday night's meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union, presided over by Archie Gibbs, vice-president, it was announced that the undermentioned 19 players will turn out for practices at Macdonald Park at 7:30 tomorrow and Thursday nights: Olson, Carney, Gibbs, Blades, Montgomery, Latham, Ranson, Reid, Lott, McKeachie, Bray, Van Druten, Gornall, Zimmerman, Denham, Kerr, Dalzell, A. Williams and R. Williams.

It was hinted that two or more players will be added to the string after Saturday's games. Final selection of the 17 men to make up the Tide for its next battle is not far off.

The Crimson Tide, with one victory and a loss to its credit will be after another win on resuming its bid for McKeachie Cup laurels Feb. 2 at Vancouver against the Lions. Charged with the job of producing a squad that is strong in every department is Bob McInnes, manager; Bert Buller, chief coach; Campbell Forbes and Frank Skillings, assistant coaches.

Manager McInnes was given the job of scouting around to secure new, white shorts for the Tide members. New hose-tops will also be sought.

A letter was read from Vancouver stating that city's wish to send a junior team over for an intercity game here in the future. The challenge will be met and Rod McInnes, secretary, was asked to write and learn what date was favored by the mainland.

Bob McInnes, principal of Oaklands High School, reported that his school was organizing a 105-pound team to meet University School's team in that weight class. He also stated that Wally Brynjolfson was organizing a 105-pound team at the Monterey School.

Postpones Reopening

NEW ORLEANS Fair Grounds Race Track, due to open Tuesday after being closed since last Thursday because of race conditions, will remain closed until Thursday next, it was announced today. Last Thursday three jockeys were injured when their mounts piled up in the feature race. The tracks has been under water in spots for several days.

Victoria West Will Oppose St. Andrews Here January 26

Officials of the Victoria and District Football League adopted a new policy last night when they decided to match Victoria West against Vancouver St. Andrews in an individual club, rather than an all-star team, will meet all visiting clubs in future.

Close Scoring Marks Games In City Cage Loop

Close competition was the order Monday night when Victoria and District Basketball League teams met at Victoria High School Gym.

Northwestern Creamery, by virtue of their 31 to 28 victory over Canadian Legion hoopers, advanced into a three-way tie in top position in the senior "B" men's loop with the Legion and Black and Whites.

In the intermediate "B" division, K.V.'s nosed out Chinese Students 24 to 21 to advance within four points of the leading Eagles. In the women's department, Eaglettes took over second berth in the standings with a 28 to 16 win over the Comets. The loss knocked Comets into third place.

Canadian Legion started out strong and took over the lead but things gradually became a neck-and-neck affair. The clubs opened the final quarter with the score tied 23 to 23. It was nip and tuck from there on, with the Northwestern nosing through in the final minute to finish with a three-point margin. The creamery top men in scoring were Tom McKeachie and "Red" Mason with eight and ten points, respectively.

Another game saw the winner undecided until the closing seconds was the intermediate boys' struggle between the Chinese and K.V.'s. There was only a half a minute left to play in the game and the score stood 20 to 19 for K.V.'s. Two foul shots by Chan put Students up by one point, but a long shot and two free shots by Smith gave the K.V. quintette its win. Chan with 11 points led Chinese scorers, while Singh with six topped K.V. scorers.

The women's fixture saw Eaglettes go into the lead early and hold it throughout. Helen Pettigrew was leading scorer for Eaglettes with eight points, with Shirley Essler tops for the Comets.

Teams and scores follow:
Northwestern Creamery — Baker 6, Jackson, Mason 10, Coates, Shepherd, Barber, Whyte 2, McKeachie 8, Ross 5, Van Druten.

Canadian Legion — Dale, Hall 9, Walker 8, Parfit 2, Brown 2, Garret 3, Fields 2, Sparks, J. McKeachie 2.

Chinese Students — K. Lee, Leung 6, Lim 4, Mark, Lum Chan 11, Der, W. Lee.

K.V.'s — Weaver 4, Pauls 2, Corry 4, Singh 6, Smith 4, Stinson 4, Fair.

Eaglettes — Barry 5, Pettigrew 8, Yeamans 3, Kaltenbach 7, Valance 2, Simpson 3, Hendsbee, Greig, Burnett.

Comets — McDonald 1, Mair, Whyte 1, Essler 7, Robbins 3, Bradshaw 4, Wallace, J. Bradshaw.

Urge 'Y' Swimmers Attend Workouts

Victoria Y.M.C.A. club captains, Ina Salmon and Dick Bowden, urge all swimmers in the midjet, junior and senior classes to turn out for practices to be held Wednesday night at the "Y" pool.

The team, which will travel to Vancouver to participate in the dual meet between the local "Y" and the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club Jan. 26, will be selected shortly and it is important that all splashers be on hand for the practices.

Midjet swimmers, the under-13-years-of-age group, work out at 5 Wednesday afternoon; the juniors, under 17, at 7:15; and the seniors, over 17, at 8.

About 60 youngsters, between the ages of 10 and 12 of the "Y" prep class held their reorganization get-together last Saturday morning, when they were formed into four separate groups: "Thunderbolts," "Flying Y's," "Seagulls" and "Mustangs." The preps opened their competition for the spring term on Saturday. They

Basketball's Latest Sensation

NORM BAKER

Racking up a total of 294 points in 13 contests for a phenomenal average of 22.6 per game the blonde-thatched forward of the Dominoes is establishing himself as one of the greatest cage performers ever developed in Canada. Baker gained the heights Saturday night when he hit the hoop for 33 points against the Harlem Globe Trotters, noted touring professional club. Baker's lowest total in a game this season has been 14 points. Twenty-two years of age, Norm has been playing basketball since he was nine, making his first appearance with a midjet club at Nanaimo. He served four years with the R.C.A.F., getting his discharge last October. Upper photo shows Baker under the shower after one of his high-scoring performances while lower the big fellow is seen in a familiar pose under the basket.

Lach New Threat For Hockey Scoring Lead

MONTREAL (CP) — Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens offered a threat to Chicago's hold on top of the National Hockey League individual scoring statistics, climbing from fifth to third place in the official release today. Lach now has seven goals and 23 assists for 30 points, nine behind Max Bentley of Black Hawks who has 24 goals and 15 assists. Lach showed an advance of four points, while Bentley added only one.

In second place is Bill Mosienko of Chicago with 32 points — 12 goals and 20 assists — unchanged from last week. Mosienko has been out of play for two weeks due to an injury.

In tie for fourth place, one point behind Lach, is Toe Blake of Montreal and Clint Smith of Chicago. Blake has scored 20 goals and assisted on nine others, while Smith has chalked up 15 goals and 14 assists. Doug Bentley of Chicago is sixth with 29 points, and Alex Kaleta of Chicago is seventh with 27, both unchanged from last week.

Lach's 23 assists gives him leadership in that department, while Max Bentley leads the goal-getters with 24.

Leadership in penalties remained with Jack Stewart of Detroit Red Wings with 41 minutes in the box, unchanged from last week's report.

Bill Durnan, Montreal goalie, held the lead on the goalkeepers statistics with 64 goals against in 24 games, an average of 2.542. He has missed the last three games due to a hand injury. Harry Lumley of Detroit ranks second with 77 goals against in 27 games for an average of 2.852. New York Rangers have established such a stranglehold on the cellar position through the last three seasons it's difficult to imagine them in any other surroundings, but if standings were computed on the basis of the last six games played by each team Rangers would be out in front.

RANGERS BEST

Now three points behind fifth-place Toronto Maple Leafs, Rangers have lost only one game since Dec. 29. They've won three and tied two over that stretch for the hottest current record of any team.

In contrast, the pacesetter Montreal Canadiens have lost three and tied one in their last six games; Detroit Red Wings have lost two and tied one; Chicago Black Hawks have lost four; Bruins have lost three and tied one and Leafs have lost four.

Despite that comparative record, Canadiens still hold a two-point lead over Chicago and Detroit, who are tied for second three points ahead of Boston. The Bruins in turn hold a seven-point margin over Leafs, who must win roughly 15 of their remaining 31 games, to make the four-team play-offs.

Rangers face their next opportunity to maintain their current hot streak when they travel to Boston Wednesday for one of two scheduled N.H.L. games. In the other contest Chicago moves to Montreal for a game which might mark a turning point in the leadership race.

The Hawks have been making threatening gestures at Canadiens ever since the Flying Frenchmen displaced them as pacesetters in the third week of the season, but each time Chicago appeared on the verge of taking the lead Canadiens always mustered enough strength to stay on top, or at least tied for the lead.

Tomorrow a Chicago victory would put Hawks back into a first-place deadlock with Canadiens, a position they have occupied several times in recent weeks. A Montreal victory, however, would give Canadiens a four-point edge and just about clinch them the N.H.L. championship.

Canadiens last night obtained Murdo McKay, leading scorer for Buffalo Bisons of the American League, in return for centre Jack Adams and left winger Moe White. Adams and White recently were discharged from the Canadian army after lengthy terms of service.

'Our Future Is In Our Hands'—Churchill to Canadians

CHURCHILL WHEN WAR LEADER—"Our Policy? To wage war, by sea, land and air, with all our might and with all the strength that God can give us. . . . Our aim? Victory!"

TOUGH—"And if they ever get to London, I shall go into that pillbox at the end of the street—and I am not a bad shot, you know."

WAGGISH—"I've done a terrible thing. I've asked the Washington operator for a glass of sherry, thinking I was on the house phone."

SHREWD—"A bitter enemy of Communism, he welcomed alliance with Russia against Germany with the remark: 'To save England I'd pact with the devil.'"

PROPHETIC—"Those who can win the victory cannot make the peace; those who make the peace would never have won the victory."

Britain's Wartime Premier Thanks Canadian Troops Who Guarded Shores

NEW YORK (CP)—Winston Churchill told interviewers here he has no immediate thoughts of retiring from politics, nor from leadership of the Conservative Party.

Arriving Monday night with Mrs. Churchill on the Ss. Queen Elizabeth, which also brought 12,000 homebound Canadian service personnel, the British war leader left almost at once for a six-week holiday in Miami.

Wearing the brass-buttoned sailing togs of the Royal Yacht Squadron (he said it was not a uniform) Mr. Churchill was ruddy-cheeked, in bubbling good humor and said he believed he was "very well indeed."

Of the Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen who were his shipmates the Prime Minister said, "they seemed very happy and well they might be with their task completed and their duty done."

He stood in a flood of camera lights at the gangplank for motion pictures. His familiar cigar was missing because of the no-smoking regulations in that area.

But a few minutes later, when he and Mrs. Churchill were taken to a reception room where correspondents waited, he was smoking a big cigar as he smilingly announced he would "answer any questions."

HE HAD NOT HEARD

To a query regarding a South American suggestion he be made Secretary-General of the United Nations Organization the former Prime Minister said it was the first he had heard of it. "What is your reaction to that suggestion?" he was asked.

"I haven't had time to react," he retorted.

Was he writing a war history? "No, not at the moment, but I am open to offers." He said the same when asked about his memoirs. "I may jot down a few ideas," he said with a broad grin. "But I am not sure they will be published in my lifetime."

About the possibility of retiring from politics he said "I don't know anything about that. There are too many interesting things in politics these days."

Asked directly if he would give up leadership of his party he replied that was in the hands of the British Conservatives. "Certainly he had no intention of giving it up 'until such time as they see their way clear to make other arrangements, which I earnestly trust they may do.'"

This brought a question as to his meaning—if he meant he wanted to yield the leadership. "I certainly made no such statement," he said. "Nor did I make any statement to the contrary."

Of the United Nations Organization Mr. Churchill said the chances of its success was anybody's guess, but of the need for such an organization he grimly asked "What else is there in the world to hope for?"

He was strongly in favor of the British-U.S. inquiry commission on the Palestine situation. "You know, I am a Zionist from the start, but I think too great a weight has been thrown upon Great Britain."

"A better result can come from joint action. The United States ought to help. It may bring about a most happy solution."

Asked if he thought Palestine should become a United Nations trusteeship, Mr. Churchill said "I certainly think it is too big to be handled by one nation alone."

The former Prime Minister gulped a little when asked what he believed to be the turning point in the war, but quickly recovered.

"Pearl Harbor," he exclaimed. "After that the defeat of the Axis was certain."

WOULD CHOOSE AFRICA

He hesitated too when asked what place he would like to see selected as permanent home of the United Nations Organization. "I think I would have chosen Africa," he said after a moment. "Casablanca or Marrakech."

Mr. Churchill said he believed the winter in Europe would not be so bad as some had expected and that he felt the occupation forces of Britain, the United States and France were doing a good job.

"And Russia too?" a questioner reminded him.

"Russia—of course."

Of the atomic bomb Mr. Churchill said it would be a

U.N.O. Now World's Only Hope, Says Churchill, Arriving In U.S.

NEW YORK (CP)—Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime

Prime Minister, took the opportunity to address more than 12,000 homecoming Canadian servicemen who were his shipmates aboard the Ss. Queen Elizabeth which docked here Monday night.

Mr. Churchill is en route to Florida, where he intends to take an extended holiday.

Following is the text of Mr. Churchill's address which was piped over the liner's public address system to the troops:

My friends and fellow shipmates on the Queen Elizabeth:

For most of you it is home-ward-bound. It has been a good voyage in a great ship, with a fine captain—or indeed commodore. We have not got there yet, but I am quite sure he will find the way all right. At any rate, he has been over the track before, and, as I can testify myself, having been several times with him, in those days there used to be U-boats and things like that. They all seem to have dropped off now and we don't have to worry about them at all. Something seems to have happened, and indeed has happened. The seas are clear, the old flag flies, and those who have done the work, or some of it—because the British did some—turn home again, their task accomplished and their duty done.

TYRANTS PAY PENALTY

What a strange, fearful, yet glittering chapter this war has been. What changes it has wrought throughout the world and in the fortunes of so many families. What an interruption in all the plans each of us had made. What a surrender of the liberties we prized. What a casting away of comfort and safety. What a pride in peril. What a glory shines on the brave and true. For the good cause has not been overthrown. Tyrants have been hurled from their place of power and those who sought to enslave the future of mankind

"great mistake" to share the secret "until arrangements are completed for its proper international control."

A British correspondent asked him if he believed the United Kingdom should be stockpiling atomic bombs "as is being done in the United States."

BY CONSULTATION

Mr. Churchill said that was a subject that should be decided in conversations among Britain, the United States and Canada.

"When do you expect to take office again?" a correspondent asked.

"I don't contemplate any action of that kind at the present time."

To persistent questions about his attitude toward the Labor Government, Mr. Churchill replied he made it a rule not to criticize "the politics of my country when I am abroad."

The final question was about Mr. Churchill's choice of a site for the peace conference. "My vote would go for London," he replied, "but perhaps I am biased."

have paid, or will pay, the final penalty.

You Canadians, many of whom served in the 5th Canadian Division, no doubt have your minds filled with the victorious war scenes of Italy and the Rhine. But we Englishmen always think of the days of 1940, when the Canadian Army Corps stood almost alone in Kent and Sussex and when the Germans had 25 divisions ready to leap across the Channel and wipe Great Britain out of life and history. I think about those days too sometimes, and how fine it was to see everyone, at home and throughout the Empire, moved by the same impulse, so simple, so sublime, "Conquer or die." Victory in arms, or in any walk of life, is only the opportunity of doing better on a larger scale and at a higher level.

DON'T WORRY

Do not be anxious about the future. Be vigilant, be strong, be clear-sighted, but do not be worried. Our future is in our hands. Our lives are what we choose to make them. The great British Commonwealth and Empire, emerging from the fire once again, glorious and free, will form a structure and an organization within which there will be room for all and a fair chance for all.

Yesterday I was on the bridge, watching the mountainous waves, and this ship—which is no pup—cutting through them and mocking their anger. I asked myself, why is it the ship beats the waves, when they are so many and the ship is one? The reason is that the ship has a purpose and the waves have none. They just flop around, innumerable, tireless, but ineffective. The ship with the purpose takes us where we want to go. Let us therefore have purpose, both in our national and imperial policy, and in our own private lives. Thus the future will be fruitful for each and for all, and the reward of the warriors will not be unworthy of the deeds they have done.

Transport Minister Outlines Points In Canada's Future

Four points the Canadian government considered at present most important in the future of Canada were outlined in a speech today by Minister of Transport, Mr. C. D. Howe, at a luncheon meeting with directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Percy George, members of the city council, and members of the chamber's transportation committee.

The first was continuation of Canada's export trade. He realized, he said, Canada could not be expected to match her wartime trade, but the objective Canada sought was 60 per cent, in dollar value, of the trade in 1937 and subsequent war years.

The second was encouragement of private industry and private initiative. There was great opportunity in Canada for this, he believed.

Home consumption was the third. This was of greater importance than public projects, he said. He pointed out government spending during the war had provided 50 per cent of the money in workers' pockets, and that government spending had declined since the war. New ways of spending of money had to be found.

Fourth were public projects which the minister said should be considered in the light of public expenditure. At present, he added, the government had a number of important public projects on the shelf which would be announced in time.

INFLATION DANGER

The danger of inflation still existed and would probably do so for a number of years yet, he said. He praised Canada's price control and prevention of inflation during the war and said he believed price controls should continue for one, if not two, years.

Transport Minister Chevrier, in a two-day visit which ends today, has toured points of proposed development in Victoria.

On Monday, with a party of Chamber of Commerce and city officials, he toured the outer docks and proposed Gordon Head airport.

The party consisted of Maj. H. C. Holmes, president of the chamber; Walter Miles, vice-president; Ald. W. L. Morgan, chairman of the city harbor committee; Ald. Burges J. Gadsden, chairman of the city aviation committee.

Fred Hawes, chairman of the chamber's harbor committee; R. H. B. Ker, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee; J. V. Johnson, president of the associated boards of trade on Vancouver Island, and G. I. Warren.

Fire Wardens Favor Three Platoons And 49-Hour Work Week

The fire wardens are in favor of the establishment of the three-platoon system for firemen, working on a six-day week, eight-hour day basis, Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman, stated following a meeting Monday.

This was brought out, he indicated, in the course of discussion following a delegation from the firemen's union asking that a 48-hour week be established on an average over two weeks, with firemen working four 10-hour day shifts one week, and four 14-hour night shifts the next week. This is in line with a provincial act passed at the last session of the Legislature, Ald. Diggon explained, and which will be mandatory 12 months after the official cessation of hostilities. It may be placed in effect any time within the 12-month period by order-in-council.

Firemen favor this means of obtaining the 48-hour week rather than continuing on a six-day week, Ald. Diggon indicated, which would mean amendment of the two-platoon act to establish three platoons.

The shortening of the work hours will mean the addition of 18 men to the Victoria firefighting staff regardless of which means are taken to get the 48-hour week, he said. Under the system proposed by the union and which is established under the act, it will cost Victoria approximately $38,000 a year more.

The establishment of the three platoons, and the eight-hour day will mean a net increase in cost of only approximately $1,500, he stated, because then the dormitories with their attendant expenses could be done away with.

In the event of firemen insisting on a five-day work week, the establishment of a three-platoon system would cost thousands of dollars more than the present proposal, he said and the whole matter is being reconsidered by the fire wardens, with a view to possibly asking for an amendment of the two-platoon act at the coming session of the Legislature.

Catch Peeping Tom But Miss Women Chaser

City police tracked down a "Peeping Tom," but failed to locate a man reported to have chased three women on a dark street after complaints had been received Monday night.

The "Peeping Tom" was a 16-year-old youth, who was "given a good talking to," and then taken home to his parents. Police reported that R. Robertson, 2715 Mt. Stephen Road, had complained at 11:25 that a man dressed in a blue suit and a white collar was peeping in windows along Acton Street. Subsequently the youth was picked up by Detectives Louis Callon and Angus Munro.

At 11:05 a man reported his wife and two friends had been chased along Fernwood Road, in the vicinity of Bay Street, by a man dressed in grey pants and a light coat. The district was searched without results.

Association Elects Most Officers Again

R. A. Wootton was re-elected by acclamation Monday night as president of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association.

A majority of the other officers of the association were also re-elected by acclamation. The new slate of officers is as follows:

Honorary presidents—John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader; Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C., provincial party leader; Works Minister Herbert Anscomb, Oak Bay member of the B.C. Legislature, and Brig. J. Sutherland Brown.

First vice-president—Maj. K. W. A. MacDougall.

Second vice-president—Mrs. R. D. Harvey.

Secretary-treasurer—Capt. L. S. Daynes.

Delegates elected to represent the Oak Bay Association at the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association meetings were: Gordon Cameron, G. V. Cross, Brig. Brown, G. F. Salmon, Mr. Wootton, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. D. C. F. MacArthur, Maj. MacDougall and Capt. Daynes. Sir Henry Drayton, Progressive Conservative candidate for Victoria in the June 11 Dominion general election last year, is an ex-officio delegate.

All members present at the meeting Monday night were named to the executive.

By resolution the positions of secretary and treasurer were combined.

Veterans Wire Ottawa Protesting Against Meyer Coming to Canada

Prospect of a meeting to protest against the commutation of the sentence of former S.S. General Kurt Meyer faded today, but veterans' leaders in Victoria remained firmly set against the commutation and the recommendation that Meyer serve his life sentence in Canada.

The emergency committee of the Victoria district zone council, Canadian Legion, telegraphed to the Provincial Command today a request that the command protest in the strongest possible terms the commutation of Kurt Meyer's sentence. It was expected that the protest would be forwarded by the Provincial Command to Dominion headquarters of the Canadian Legion.

LOWER MORALE

Carl Fallas, district representative on the Provincial Council of the Canadian Legion; J. A. Law-Beattie, president of the British Branch of the Canadian Legion, and Stanley Gill, secretary of the district council and the Pro Patria Branch, expressed views that commutation of the former S.S. general's sentence would set a precedent, lower the morale of Canadians and lead the Germans to think of the British as soft.

"Being soft with the Germans will get us nowhere," said Brig. J. Sutherland Brown. He said he thought the protest against the commutation of the sentence ought to be followed up actively.

Speaking for the British Branch, Mr. Law-Beattie said he thought the recommendation that Meyer serve his sentence in a Canadian prison was objectionable in the extreme. He said many members of the branch had expressed to him their objections to the commutation of the sentence.

A number of veterans of the Second Great War, however, indicated they felt commutation of Meyer's sentence was justified.

"I'm not in favor of him being shot or hanged," said one. "But I don't want him and his family coming to Canada. We have enough to do taking care of our own people."

The question was thought likely to be discussed at Wednesday night's meeting of the Esquimalt Dockyard Branch No. 172, Canadian Legion, in its clubrooms at 622 Admirals Road.

Error in Judgment Caused Decapitation, Says Maitland

Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C., who has ordered a full investigation into the decapitation of 47-year-old Byron Bruce Potter at Oakalla Prison Farm last Thursday, said today the accident was apparently a result of a miscalculation or error of judgment by the hangman.

Mr. Maitland said that Potter, who died for the knife-slitting of Mrs. Ina Rogers in the Peace River District, was six feet four inches tall and weighed 224 pounds.

The hangman, officially known as Arthur Ellis, is competent and has had experience, Mr. Maitland added, "it is a very unfortunate thing."

Meanwhile in Vancouver, Thomas F. Hurley, who acted as Potter's counsel, said there should be nothing hush-hush about the Attorney-General's investigation. The lawyer said he viewed Potter's body again Monday with Dr. G. H. Manchester of New Westminster and the physician was satisfied the man's head had been torn from his body.

Mr. Hurley said members of the coroner's jury told him they were not aware of the mistake made by the hangman. When they viewed the body, the lawyer said, all they saw was his head; a sheet had been pulled right up to the chin.

JUST UNFORTUNATE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Philip C. Locke, Winnipeg barrister, said he recalled a hanging here nearly 20 years ago which resulted in decapitation.

The case was that of Dan Prociw, hanged in the provincial jail on Vaughan Street Aug. 25, 1926, for the murder of his common-law wife, Annie Cardno. Locke defended Prociw.

Commenting on a Vancouver dispatch which said a barrister legal action against the hangman, officially known as Arthur Ellis, because of a similar decapitation, Locke said: "There isn't a case against the man. The manner in which Potter (the man executed in British Columbia) died is just an unfortunate happening in the execution of the death sentence."

The Capital City Speakers' Group meeting Monday night presided over by Mr. E. McCann took the form of a joint political gathering—candidates, agent and publicity representatives in each case, for all parties were appointed and expounding their views on platforms.

A high-frequency radio receiver worth $441 and a power supply unit valued at $25 has been lost from H.M.C.S. Coastguard while berthed at the Naval Dockyard, the Esquimalt detachment of the R.C.M.P. reported to city police.

A request that a traffic light be substituted for the four stop signs at the junction of Oak Bay Avenue, Fort Street and Pandora Avenue has been made by the Victoria Automobile Club to the city council. The club contends that the four stop signs increase the traffic hazard.

Further discussions of Premier John Hart's seven-man board considering extension of the P.G.E. will be held. Appointed last fall, the committee last Sunday wound-up a six-day discussion—the second since its appointment. No time had been set for the next meeting.

Mrs. Gladys M. Bodington of 211 Cook Street has written to Mayor Percy George protesting the "wholesale slaughter of boulevard trees" and querying the necessity of it. She declared that it is destroying the character and beauty of Victoria, and that the flowering trees cannot take the place of the larger trees because they only flower for two weeks.

Executive members of the Union of B.C. Municipalities will meet Premier John Hart early in February, Mayor Percy George was informed today by the secretary, R. B. Sewell. The mayor was asked to prepare any material he might have in connection with the resolutions to be presented, and in particular to make careful note of any questions on the Cameron education report.

Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the city airport committee, today prepared a special map of the city for Hon. Lionel Chevrier, minister of transport, showing the location of the proposed civic airport at Gordon Head and routes into the centre of the city. It took less than 25 minutes by a circuitous route, and keeping within the speed limit, to go to the airport and back, Ald. Gadsden stated, on the tour he took with Mr. Chevrier, Monday.

A request that the 'high curbs' on the east side of Broad Street, between View and Johnson Streets, and on the south side of Yates Street, between Government and Broad, be lowered was made by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to Mayor Percy George. A request was also made for the erection of a stop sign at the corner of Humboldt and Blanshard Streets. Both requests were referred to the public works committee and the chief of police.

Rerouting of the Fairfield Bus so that it will not return to the city along Cormorant Street may be asked by the fire wardens, at the request of Fire Chief Joseph Raymond, Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the committee, said today following a meeting Monday. The fire chief explained that with the buses going past the fire station there was a distinct accident hazard if the fire engines had to answer a call when the buses were passing. The matter is being referred to the B.C. Electric and the Chief of Police for report, Ald. Diggon said.

Become Municipalities

Incorporation as village municipalities of Alert Bay, Osyoos and Comox has been approved by provincial orders-in-council.

At Osyoos and Comox plebiscites were held on the proposed incorporation, a majority of the land holders approving incorporation.

At Alert Bay a petition which Municipal Affairs Minister Herbert Anscomb said satisfied him represented a majority of the landholders endorsed the incorporation.

Pleads Guilty To Six Charges Of Burglary Here

Harvey Ivan Bragg, who pleaded guilty in City Police Court Monday to a charge of breaking and entering with theft the Top Notch Cafe, 2204 Douglas, today pleaded guilty to five other similar charges. He was remanded until tomorrow morning for sentence by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

The five additional breaking and entering with theft charges involved the Dot Mar Cafe, property of Joseph Flynn, 720 Yates on Dec. 13, 1945; the Metropolis Billiard Room, property of Charles and Bert Irish, 712 Yates, on Dec. 13; the Delux Produce, property of Edward King, 933 Fort, on Jan. 6, Taylor's Barber Shop, property of William Taylor, 1313 Blanshard, on Jan. 9, and the Blue Bell Cafe property of James Rugg, 1311 Blanshard, on Jan. 9.

Constable Brooke Douglass of the city police, said that at 3 in the morning of Jan. 13, while he was checking the premises of the Top Notch Cafe at 2204 Douglas Street, he found a back window partly open, and heard a noise inside the building.

"I radioed from the prowler car for assistance," he told the court.

Insp. Harry Mercer, Detectives Fearon Woodburn and William Richards, and Constables Stanley Holmes and Richard Berry, answered the call and the building was surrounded.

"I climbed in the back window and Insp. Mercer went in the front door and we caught the accused with a juvenile in the cafe," the police constable testified.

He said that a Wurlitzer machine had been forced open and a tray containing $9.25 was ready to be taken away.

Douglass said that $100 worth of cigarettes and $6 in money from two pin ball machines and the cash register had been stolen from the Metropolis Billiard Parlor; $4 in change and six packages of cigarettes had been taken from the Blue Bell Cafe; $2 in change and some tools had been taken from the barber shop; 11 packages of cigarettes and a large quantity of sugar and butter coupons were stolen from the Delux Produce, and $40 in change had been taken from a Wurlitzer at the Dot Mar Cafe.

A watch stolen from the billiard parlor had been sold by the accused to a jeweler in town for $5, the constable said.

THREW COUPONS IN SEA

"And the accused told me the sugar and butter ration coupons had been thrown into the sea from the breakwater," he added.

Several character witnesses, including the youth's father, Ernest Bragg, were heard, and a letter of recommendation signed by Percy George as president of the Victoria Boys' Band, was read.

The father told the court the youth had served for a short time in His Majesty's Forces, said that he had had a good upbringing, and asked the Magistrate for leniency in imposing sentence.

Proposes Reduction To $50 to Fee For Chiropodists

Reduction of the B.C. Association of Chiropodists' admission fee from $300 to $50 and increasing the representation of the medical profession on the board of examiners in chiropody was recommended today by Mr. Justice A. M. Harper in his report to Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson on the Chiropody Act.

Mr. Justice Harper, who was appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in council last June 1, was asked to ascertain whether or not the provisions as to the qualification, examination and admission of chiropodists under the act were reasonable, and also if special provisions should be made in the act or elsewhere regarding discharged members of the armed services, who, while in the service or elsewhere, had taken up the study or practice of chiropody.

The commission sat for 22 days and held sessions in Vancouver and Victoria. Twenty-two witnesses were heard, 961 pages of transcript recorded and 96 exhibits submitted.

The commissioner recommended:

1. Amendment of the act to provide for an examining board of five persons, two of whom should be qualified medical practitioners, appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in council.
2. Reduction of the period of service on the board from five to three years.
3. Reduction of fees from $300 to $50.
4. The association be relieved of the burden of laying information under the Chiropody Act.

The commissioner did not recommend any lowering of the standards set by the examining

The report said:
"The commissioner finds that it would not be in the public interest to permit anyone being the holder of only a correspondence school diploma to practice chiropody in British Columbia."
The appointment of the commissioner followed a protest by John Fairburn of Okanagan Mission that he had been refused admission to the association although he had studied chiropody in England and had practiced as an army chiropodist.

Japan Experimented With Balloons in 1933

TOKYO (AP)—Japan began as early as 1933 experimenting on wind-borne, bomb-carrying balloons to attack North America. Allied headquarters announced today.

The Japanese planned originally to release the balloons from submarines off the west coast of the North American mainland, headquarters added, but by the time they became practical, Japan lacked sufficient seapower to penetrate deep into the eastern Pacific.

So homeland launching sites were used.

Headquarters, in a review of additional information about the balloons, many of which landed in Canada and the United States, said the record flight was made in January, 1945—across the ocean in 1.38 days. It was recorded in Tokyo by radio signaling equipment carried by the balloon.

The slowest trip required 3.09 days, and was made in November, 1944. Atmospheric conditions caused the time differences.

Vancouver Aldermen Favor Salary Boost

VANCOUVER (CP)—A majority of aldermen here are agreed that their 1946 salary should be raised from $1,800 to the $2,000 maximum permitted under the city charter.

Action to raise the aldermanic stipend will be taken when the aldermanic indemnity by-law is submitted next week.

A move also is afoot in the council toward obtaining from the Legislature a charter amendment raising the limit on aldermen's salaries to $3,500 or $4,000.

A building permit was issued to L. Wilkes to add another workroom to his fur store at 1345 Fort Street, cost $1,600, and another permit was issued to R. T. Singleton to construct a four-room house at 321 Bushwood Avenue, cost $4,500.

Boyhood Ambition Realised As Chief Of Coastal Survey

H. D. PARIZEAU

Not many years before the turn of the century, a boy in eastern Canada named Henri Parizeau was dreaming of a future for himself in the science of hydrography. Today, H. D. Parizeau is but recently retired as a Pacific coast officer in charge of the hydrographic service and tidal and current survey of the Canadian government, after 45 years in the Dominion's service, most of it in working with his chosen career, that of hydrographer.

Mr. Parizeau is a genial man, does not like publicity, but deserves it. He has left many previously unnamed islands, channels and peaks bearing the names of the men who pioneered in B.C., and has been responsible for a prolific amount of hydrographic survey work.

Born in Montreal Dec. 31, 1877, Mr. Parizeau joined the Dominion civil service in 1901 in the Department of Public Works in Ottawa, and first worked in "precise leveling."

From that he went as senior assistant to the district engineer of the north coast of the St. Lawrence River. In 1903, he transferred as senior assistant to the district engineer of the Thousand Islands for work in dredging and hydrographic survey.

It was there he first met with work in hydrography and he was never again to leave it in his service with the Dominion.

Prior to 1904, the Department of Railways and Lands, the Department of Public Works and the Department of Marine each had a hydrographic survey section. On July 1, 1904, the service was amalgamated under the Department of Marine. Mr. Parizeau was transferred and became senior assistant of the upper St. Lawrence section.

CAME TO B.C. IN 1906

In 1906, there was a demand for a hydrographic survey in the northern district of B.C. for the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Mr. Parizeau volunteered for this work, was appointed senior assistant, and for the following four years was attached to the Pacific coast survey.

In 1912, he made a survey of James Bay, in the southern portion of Hudson's Bay. Mr. Parizeau was most emphatic in identifying the James Bay of which he spoke. Victorians had apparently lost themselves to confusion on this survey, believing it their own James Bay.

In 1913, the department decided to appoint Mr. Parizeau permanently to Ottawa, and Cmdr. J. H. Knight replaced him as senior assistant of the Pacific coast survey. Mr. Parizeau was appointed to the command of the survey of the upper Great Lakes.

HERE TO STAY

It was in 1920 that Mr. Parizeau came again to the Pacific coast, this time to stay. On the death of Lt. Cmdr. P. C. Musgrave in that year, he was appointed officer in charge of the survey here, with Cmdr. Knight as senior assistant, and L. R. Davies, W. K. Willis, who has now succeeded Mr. Parizeau here as chief, and O. R. Parker as assistants.

He took over the Canadian government ship Lilloet, built in Esquimalt, which was the hydrographic survey ship on this coast from 1906 until 1932. When, in 1932, the William J. Stewart was commissioned, Mr. Parizeau took over the new ship.

Two years previous to commissioning of the William J. Stewart, the houseboat Pender was commissioned in Vancouver and attached to the Lilloet. She was in the shore portion of the survey.

In 1937, something happened that still touches a sore spot when Mr. Parizeau speaks of it. "In the early part of 1937," he said, "we were all transferred to come under the 'landlubber' Department of Mines and Resources."

In 1938, the department decided to keep the office in Victoria over the year around and Mr. Parizeau was appointed supervising hydrographer for the Pacific coast and in charge of tidal survey.

Traveling Board May Pass On War Reparation Claims

OTTAWA (CP)—A traveling commission probably will be appointed soon to hear claims across Canada for German war reparations, it was announced Monday night.

The announcement was made after disclosure of a proposed international agreement which showed Canada was eligible for 3.5 per cent of assets held by the custodian of enemy property here and 1.5 per cent of capital and industrial equipment, including ships, from the non-Russian area of the Reich.

Terms of the agreement were announced simultaneously in the capitals of the 18 signatory powers. The agreement takes the form of a series of recommendations which will take effect, in so far as Canada is concerned, after it has been approved by the government.

The government now is considering the 30,000-word document and after approval will forward it to the Canadian Embassy in Paris for signing by a Canadian representative. It also is likely that the agreement will be tabled at the next session of Parliament, which will be asked for approval of its terms.

Tug Crews to Vote On Representation

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Maritime Labor Relations Board today ordered a vote among unlicensed crew members on all vessels operated by the Cliff M. R. and B.C. Mills Towing Co. Ltd., Vancouver, to determine union representation.

The vote, to be conducted by G. R. Currie, industrial relations officer at Vancouver, was ordered after the Pacific coast district of (T.L.C.) applied for certification as bargaining representatives.

The board also announced rejection of an application by the seamen's union as representative of unlicensed crew members on vessels operated by the Gulf of Georgia Towing Co. Ltd., Vancouver. The board said the union had not the support of a majority of those affected.

Prairie Gas to Cost More

REGINA (CP)—It is "quite probable" that the price of gasoline will increase two cents a gallon in western Canada within the next two or three months, but the matter is entirely at the discretion of the Prices Board, Hartley R. Knowles, western general sales manager of Imperial Oil Ltd., said in an interview here. The board recently granted an increase in the price of crude at Turner Valley and he believed this would be reflected in a two-cent rise in the retail price of gasoline.

Sgt. Heinekey enlisted in July, 1940, and went overseas in 1941. He went to France 30 days after D-Day and served through the campaign on the continent.

He came home aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth. His wife awaits passage to Canada from England.

Ask Alaska Highway Be Opened to Public For Summer Tours

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—A committee was formed here by members of Dawson Creek and Fort St. John Boards of Trade to press the Dominion government to open the Alaska highway to public travelers this summer.

The committee parked five cars across the highway showing it is possible to carry at least three lanes of traffic, even in winter time.

They stated members of the federal government have never visited the road, adding a request is being forwarded to Prime Minister King to appoint a commission of members of parliament to visit the highway, to enable them to know conditions of the road in case a debate arises in the coming session of the House, regarding the government taking it over April 1.

Residents are indignant over articles appearing in west coast magazines written by Senator Magnuson of Washington State, and Governor Gruening of Alaska, which they consider detrimental to the highway.

The delegates agree another road west of the Rockies to connect with the Alaska Highway is necessary but in advocating this connection they said the promoters should give thought to keeping open the southern end of the road.

Says Jap Guards Not Bad at Heart

VANCOUVER (CP)—Japanese guards in Hongkong prisoner of war camps "were not such bad little fellows at heart," Capt. Rev. Uriah Laite, former Vancouver minister who was interned 41 months by Japanese as padre of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, said at Knox United Church here.

"They were not essentially bad," he said. "They were regimented to a fine degree. They had one-track minds. If they were ordered to do good, they did it; if told to do bad, they did it, too."

Operators Desert Switchboard

Only emergency calls were handled by a skeleton crew when 3,000 telephone company employees in Washington walked out to attend a mass meeting in protest against alleged "sweatshop" conditions. The nationwide U.S. telephone strike has now been postponed for 30 days.

'Tuck' Embrey Back

Well-known in local athletic circles, particularly soccer, Gnr. Thomas "Tuck" Embrey of the 4th Light Ack-Ack, R.C.A.F., is back in the city on discharge leave after nearly five years with the army and R.C.A.F.

A member of Victoria West and Saanich Thistles soccer teams for a number of years prior to the war, Embrey first enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1941. He later transferred to the army and served in England and on the continent.

Soldier Stole Jeep

VANCOUVER (CP)—Private P. E. Lepetick, 19, who pleaded guilty to stealing an army jeep for the purpose of driving to Nelson, B.C., to visit his mother, was sentenced to the time he spent in custody and ordered turned over to the military authorities when he appeared before Magistrate H. S. Wood Monday.

Germany Dangerous As Ever, Officer Says After Visit

"I suggest the Germans are as potentially dangerous as they have ever been. We had better stand on guard!" was the warning issued by Major H. G. Scott, M.A., L.L.B., in an address to an audience of 200 at a combined luncheon meeting of the Gyro and Canadian Clubs Monday in Empress Hotel.

Major Scott had arrived at this conclusion following his 1945 visit to Germany and former occupied countries for the express purpose of gathering first-hand information for his present tour of the Canadian Club.

The speaker said he had had an opportunity to question two widely-read and experienced observers about the after-war Germans and in reply to his query, "Are the Germans beaten?" one was thoroughly convinced they were, while the other said: "I don't know. I'm not sure they are beaten." The speaker was inclined to favor the latter opinion.

One feature of his trip that led to this belief was his Sunday view of people in the shambles that was Cologne. He saw the German populace well-turned out for the Sabbath, well-dressed, shaved and generally well-groomed. "This had left no doubt in his mind that the Germans in the midst of their shattered nation were an extremely strong people still."

Maj. Scott found that general opinion was that the Germans were not repentant, did not feel any remorse or guilt for the atrocities, cruelties and wholesale murder committed by their nation on a scale that knew no parallel in the history of the world.

"The opinion is that they are only sorry they lost the war," he declared.

The German cities, he said, were in a shambles from the crushing blows of the Allies but in the countryside he found a picture of trim and clean orderliness "that marks the strength that is still in Germany."

Lumber Black Market Subject of Complaints

WASHINGTON (AP)—An industry protest that current price ceilings for lumber are causing black markets and diverting output from home construction was reported Monday by the Civilian Production Administration.

The agency said also that John C. Collet, stabilization administrator, had told a meeting of industry representatives that his office is considering proposals for price changes in some lumber regions.

The price complaints were made by industry advisory committees.

Mainland Airport

VANCOUVER (CP)—Discussions to determine the future of Vancouver's $1,000,000 airport on sea island will open Wednesday when Air Vice-Marshal Ferrier and Romeo Vachon, a member of the Canadian Air Transportation Board, arrive here from Ottawa.

They will meet Wednesday and Thursday with a special civic airport committee headed by Ald. Charles Thompson, chairman of the city council's airport committee.

Shanghai Students Demand Democracy, Withdrawal By U.S.

SHANGHAI (AP)—Chinese students, who shouted "Why don't you go home?" to American troops, demonstrated in Shanghai streets Monday for establishment of a Democratic China and withdrawal of United States forces.

Leaders of the several thousand students, who marched six abreast through the streets, said the demonstration was part of a nationwide movement.

The demonstrators waved placards and banners, and shouted their slogans for American withdrawal and Democracy in both Chinese and English.

At a later mass meeting speakers urged a coalition government be formed to provide "freedom of speech and assembly" and demanded the removal of corrupt officials and prompt trial for Chinese traitors.

The speaker loudly criticized Nationalist troops for allegedly firing on a recent student demonstration in Kunning, where four students and a teacher were reported to have been killed.

The parade followed memorial services for Yu Cha, the teacher, in the Jade Buddhist temple.

Later, in a protest against French insistence on extraterritorial rights although Britain and the United States have given up theirs, 3,000 students carrying banners and shouting slogans paraded before the French consulate.

Full Phone Service To U.S. Resumed

Full telephone service from Victoria and other British Columbia cities to points in the United States was available again Monday after a break in communications caused by picketing of many U.S. telephone exchanges, and some walk-outs.

Service was resumed last night. A Canadian Press dispatch from Vancouver said B.C. telephone switchboards were crowded with calls.

A 30-day delay in the threatened nationwide strike in the United States involving 250,000 operators was ordered by the National Federation of Telephone Workers' executive board.

Would Amalgamate Maritime Unions

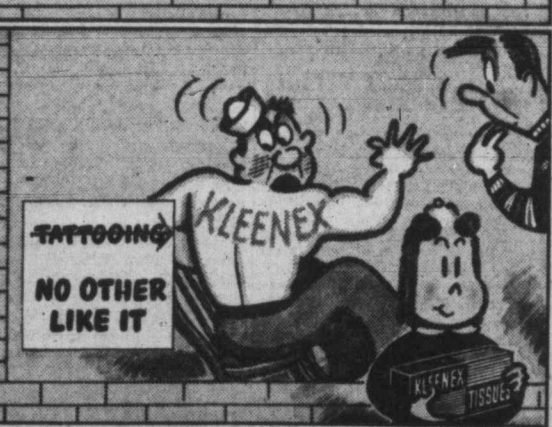

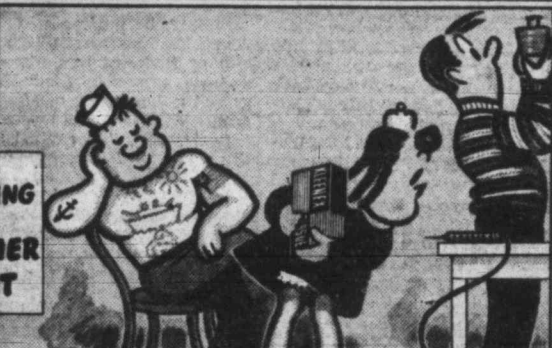

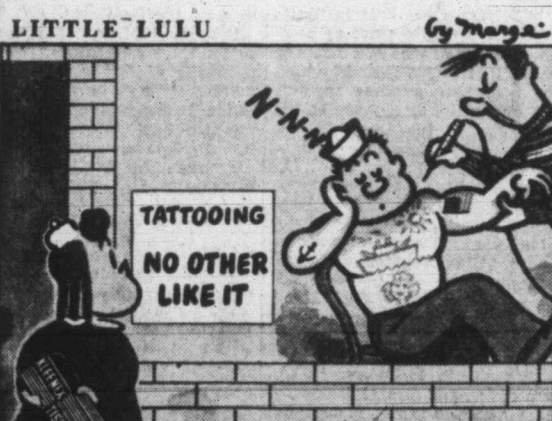

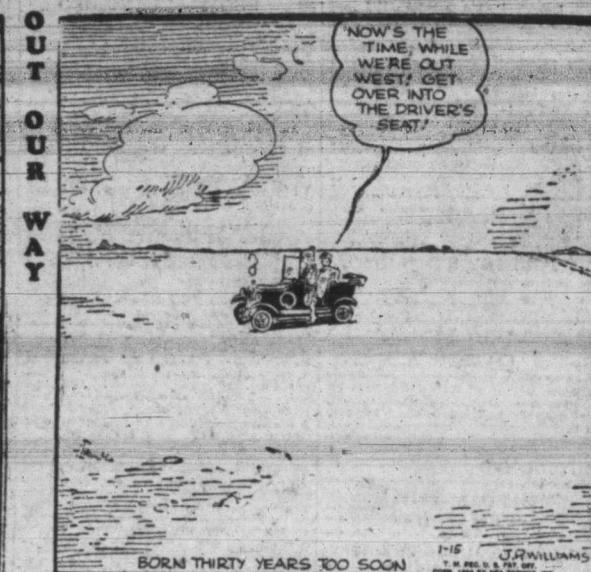

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—H. Bridges, president of the C.I.O. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said here Monday the Maritime Union conference at Washington Feb. 4 would be asked to formulate a "common economic and political program for action by all Maritime unions."

The west coast union leader asserted the purpose would be to "amalgamate the programs of all unions, regardless of affiliation."

At the same time, he denied a report by the San Francisco Chronicle quoting him as proposing a new nationwide organization of Maritime unions on both coasts.

Horseman Dies

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—Will Gahagan, 60, registrar of the United States Trotting Association and one of the country's leading experts on pedigrees of harness racing horses, died at his home Sunday after a long illness. Gahagan was executive secretary of the Grand Circuit, which manages harness racing throughout the United States.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Many a dreamer would like to retire at the age of 28, but to June Haver it's more than a dream. The blonde 20th Century-Fox star, now 19, has planned her career so she will be able to retire within 10 years with a substantial income for life. She probably is earning more than $1,000 a week as well as substantial bonuses on which the studio would pay the tax.

"The judge who approved my contract said to put $250 a week in . . . bonds," she said in an interview on the "Three Little Girls in Blue" set. "But I'm putting $500 in." The remainder goes to support her house and June gets $20 a week in spending money.

June is beginning her long-range retirement plan soon. She is going to buy an apartment house. She will probably become the most popular girl in house-short Hollywood by doing so. She intends to continue amassing real estate and some day may be able to live comfortably without acting.

William Cagney's search for a boxing kangaroo has reached international proportions. For months the producer has been searching for one of the animals to appear in "The Stray Lamb." So far he has uncovered only two—one suffering from arthritis and the other with a glass eye. Neither could get a passing grade in a high school gym class.

Appalled by the lack of pugilistic marsupials, Cagney cabled an Australian press service, asking, "Are there any boxing kangaroos in Australia?" The reply said all means would be explored to send the actor-producer a first-class leather-pushing kangaroo. Co-operation was promised through the Australian consulate in New York.

Greer Garson's contract is up and the British actress will get a new one which should make her the highest paid woman on the M.G.M. lot . . . 20th Century-Fox shelled out $210,000 for the new novel by Christine Weston, India-born writer, titled "The Dark Wood." It is still in the galley—a new record . . . Cornel Wilde is writing two plays while under studio suspension.

YORK THEATRE

George Coulouris, famous for his work on the stage in "The White Steed" and "Watch on the Rhine," and now with Paul Muni, Merle Oberon and Cornel Wilde in Columbia's Technicolor "A Song to Remember" at the York Theatre, will hereafter confine his work to Hollywood. Bouncing back and forth between the two centres of entertainment, New York and Hollywood, the actor believes, not only keeps him from doing his best work in either but gives each place an opportunity to forget him when he is away working in the other.

'Crusades' Stars Wilcoxon, Young

Although Cecil B. DeMille is the arch-enemy of motion picture cycles, he confesses to having a cycle of his own.

"The Crusades," says DeMille, "belongs to the cycle which I started with 'The Ten Commandments.' 'The Crusades,' with Henry Wilcoxon and Loretta Young heading a cast of 10,000 comes today to the Dominion Theatre.

"People talk of me as being a producer of religious pictures, but there have been very few of my 60 productions which have had a religious background. I made them all with a definite connecting purpose.

Thus, 'The Ten Commandments' represented the giving of the law. 'The King of Kings' is the interpretation of the law. 'The Sign of the Cross' is the preservation of the law, and now 'The Crusades' will depict the defence of the law," said Mr. DeMille.

Victoria Chinese Heroes Among 12,000 Troops Aboard Elizabeth

NEW YORK (CP) — The grim days of the Moro River and the Scheldt Estuary just a bitter memory, 12,314 Canadian troops rested aboard the repatriation liner Queen Elizabeth here today — back in North America after years of war.

The Canadian servicemen, including 10,336 army veterans and 1,437 R.C.A.F. personnel, arrived here from Southampton at 8.30 Monday night after a rough, five-day sea voyage.

Today they will start home for the places with the familiar names they remember — Indian Head and Gananoque and Cranbrook and Portage la Prairie.

Twenty-eight trains, leaving from Jersey City, Hoboken, and Weehawken, N.J., and Grand Central Terminal, New York City, will carry them home from the wars. The first train is scheduled to leave Hoboken at 12 noon and the last will pull out of the same city at 1 a.m. Wednesday.

Accompanying the troops across the Atlantic were many distinguished travelers — headed by Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime Prime Minister, who is headed for a six-week holiday in Florida.

One mystery outfit aboard the Elizabeth was "Force 136" — a group of 43 Canadian-born Chinese trained for behind-the-lines work in the Pacific. All non-commissioned officers, the soldiers were in charge of Sgt. Roy May of 521 Flisgard Street, Victoria. There were three sergeants, seven corporals and 33 lance corporals in the unit, which saw service in India and Burma and arrived in the United Kingdom Dec. 20.

Most famous unit returning aboard the Elizabeth was the 5th Canadian Division, which battled up the mountain ranges of Italy, and then moved in for the kill last spring in northwest Europe.

GREETED BY V.C.

The Westminster Regiment of New Westminster, B.C., was greeted at the pier by its most famous member — Maj. Jack Mahony, V.C., who won the empire's highest decoration while fighting with the Westminsters in Italy. He returned to Canada for a staff course a year ago and traveled all the way from British Columbia to welcome home his comrades.

Still other famous units included Lord Strathcona's Horse of Winnipeg and the British Columbia Dragoons of Kelowna and Vernon.

Ralph Allen, Toronto Globe and Mail war correspondent who served as a soldier in England and later as a correspondent in Italy, France, Holland and Germany, was a civilian passenger. Allen recently returned from Nuernberg, where he has been covering the Nazi war crimes trials.

One of the happiest men coming back was Sgt. Morris Koffman of Dauphin, Man., veteran of Lord Strathcona's Horse. Koffman spent three years with the 1st Division, fighting through Italy and then through Holland and Belgium. Last spring in Holland he met his brother, Tpr. Jack Koffman, also of Dauphin, and they made a date to get together at home.

The Queen Elizabeth was already at sea when Morris discovered Jack was in a cabin near his own.

"The family are going to get a great kick out of meeting us together," Morris grinned.

Capt. A. A. Brightman, a Canadian army dentist, had a unique experience with the troops. During a blow, Mr. Churchill broke his dental plate and called on the Toronto officer to help him out. Capt. Brightman eased Mr. Churchill's discomfort, but couldn't make a plate.

2 CASUALTIES

Two casualties were suffered on the voyage over — Capt. John MacKay of Vancouver broke his

Capt. A. D. M. Curry Retires in February

Capt. A. D. M. Curry, supervising naval engineer, Pacific coast, will retire from the Royal Canadian Navy next month. He has held his present appointment since February, five years ago, when he was posted here from Ottawa.

Capt. Curry is probably the longest-commissioned engineer officer in the Royal Canadian Navy. He took four years' training at the Royal Navy Engineering College in Keyham, Eng., and on the inception of the Canadian navy, joined the Rainbow as an engineer sub-lieutenant.

The Rainbow docked at Esquimalt Nov. 8, 1910.

Since joining the R.C.N. his service has been equally divided between time at sea and appointments ashore.

Since his appointment here, Capt. Curry has been in charge of construction of naval craft on this coast, serving also as staff officer on engineering matters.

Open Health Centre By End of Month

Victoria's new health centre, which will be located in the former A.R.P. headquarters on Pandora Avenue, will be ready for occupancy by the end of the month, Dr. J. Murray Anderson, school medical health officer, said today.

Conversion work being carried on by city workmen is almost completed, D. K. Kennedy, building inspector, said. The painters are on the job now and the plumbing and other work is almost completed.

The health centre will be used as headquarters for the public health nurses and the baby clinic, Dr. Anderson said. A special "parking lot" for baby buggies is being provided, as well as dressing rooms for the babies.
